YOUNG OFFICERS ASSIGNED TO STATIONS

Pope's Peace Plan "Made in Germany"

THAT IS THE VIEW OF ENTENTE ALLIES AND UNITED STATES

Believed Germany Is Working Through Austria, Because of Latter's Close Relations With Vatican, to Secure Peace Conference.

GOOD FAITH OF VATICAN NOT BEING QUESTIONED

But There Is Little Probability That Pope's Plan Will Be Accepted—President Wilson on Record as Opposed to Restoring Status Quo Ante.

Rome, August 14.—Peace proposals made by Pope Benedict have been delivered to all the belligerent governments.

The pope suggests the restoration of Belgium, Serbia and Rumania, and peaceful solution of the problems of Alsace-Lorraine, Trent, Triest and Poland, according to reports received from vatican sources.

The pope's peace appeal proposes that there be no annexations and no indemnities except in special cases, such as Belgium and Serbia, the return to Germany of her colonies in exchange for the occupied departments of France, freedom of the seas, disarmament and the formation of a supreme court of arbitration for the settlement of future international disputes.

The peace proposals will be published here Thursday.

POPE'S PROPOSALS CAN'T BE ACCEPTED IN PRESENT FORM

Washington, August 14.—Pope Benedict's peace proposals were not unexpected to the United States nor to any of the entente allies.

The possibility of a peace move was discussed with British Foreign Minister Balfour and Vice Premier Viviani when the British and French official missions were in Washington, and it was agreed that all the allies, including the United States, should refuse to discuss peace terms while Germany occupied the territories she had taken by force, and thereby avoid what the allied statesmen considered a German trap.

Now, the pontiff's proposal presents the question in a somewhat different light, difficult perhaps to meet, because it offers to a war-weary world a hope for peace.

Germany and her allies are expected promptly to accept the pope's proposals.

American officials acknowledge that the vatican's proffer is of a nature calling for a reply. Diplomats of the entente circle voice nothing but a unanimous opinion that it will be rejected. American officials realize that a convincing reply is required for the world's page of history. That the proposals cannot be accepted as they stand is certain. That they will not be accepted at all is probable.

An unofficial outline of the pope's communication was received here today. Members of the president's cabinet said it had not been discussed at this afternoon's meeting, but some of the president's official family gave signs of the difficulty which it has presented. Tonight the official text had not been received and it had not been established whether it would come through the Spanish ambassador or the Swiss minister. Spain and Switzerland are the only two European neutrals having relations with the vatican.

Another Attempt by Germany.

The first appraisal of the proposal by officials and diplomats was that it was another attempt by Germany, this time working through Austria because of the latter's close relations to the vatican, to accomplish what she failed in her first offer of peace—the assembling of peace delegates at a round table conference, where the interests of one ally could be played off against the other with the disruption of the grand alliance as the stake. In no quarter is there any disposition to question in any way the good faith of the vatican, although the peace activities of the Roman Catholic elements in Germany and Austria have been prominent for several months.

But, as the unofficial outline disclosed the terms of Pope Benedict's proposal, officials were astonished to realize its similarity with some of President Wilson's declarations on the subject. International agreement to enforce peace, reduction of armament and recognition of the national aspirations of the small peoples, all were brought forward by the president in his epochal addresses before congress.

Although the proposal to leave for

MACON COMPANIES IN GUARD DIVISION ORDERED TO FRANCE

The Volunteers, the Hussars and Floyd Rifles Will Illustrate Georgia on the Fighting Front.

26 STATES REPRESENTED IN COMPOSITE DIVISION

District of Columbia Also Has Contingent—General W. A. Mann Selected to Command the Division.

Macon, Ga., August 14.—(Special.)—Enthusiasm is running high here today among members of the three Macon companies of the Second Georgia regiment who have been assigned to the 151st Machine Gun battalion, which is one of the units ordered to prepare to go to France immediately.

The three companies are known as the Macon Volunteers, Macon Hussars and the Floyd Rifles, and they have always taken high rank in the Georgia national guard, the Volunteers at one time ranking as the first company in the state in point of excellence.

The Macon battalion is under command of Major Polhill Wheeler, but it is understood he will not accompany the troops to France, as they will be placed under command of a regular army officer. It is said Major Wheeler will remain with the Second regiment.

The general opinion is expressed here that the troops will leave Macon within a few days, but no definite announcement has been made as to the time of departure and none will likely be made, as it would be a violation of the censorship regulations.

Officers of Macon Companies.

The officers who will command the three Macon companies are:

Macon Volunteers: Captain Boyce E. Miller, First Lieutenant Sidney Brown, Second Lieutenant W. M. Murphey.

Floyd Rifles: E. J. Peacock, Jr., captain; E. L. McLendon, first lieutenant; John M. Cutler, Jr., second lieutenant.

Macon Hussars: James M. Palmer, captain; J. C. Minhinnett, first lieutenant, and Z. H. Roberts, second lieutenant.

The companies are made up mostly of Macon boys and include some of the best-known young men in the city. In all there are about three hundred members of the three companies.

The three companies have been changed from infantry units to machine gun companies. They will be in the machine gun battalion of the Eighty-fourth infantry, which is to be composed of the 167th infantry, now the Fourth Alabama, and the 168th infantry, now the Third Iowa. The commanding officer has not yet been designated by the war department.

The Macon Volunteers is the oldest company in Macon and the company has participated in the Mexican, civil and Spanish-American wars under that name. Many of the members of the company are descendants of men who participated in those wars in the same company. The Floyd Rifles saw service in the civil war and the Macon Hussars participated in the Spanish-American war.

PLANS PERFECTED FOR SENDING GUARD ACROSS ATLANTIC

Washington, August 14.—Plans for sending the first national guard troops to France have been perfected by the war department with the organization of a division which will include troops from twenty-six states and the District of Columbia.

The states from which the national guard troops are to be assembled are Louisiana, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, New York, Georgia, Alabama, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Maryland, South Carolina, California, Missouri, Virginia, North Carolina, Kansas, Texas, Michigan, New Jersey, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Colorado, Ohio, Oregon and the others from the District of Columbia.

The commanding officer of the division will be Brigadier General W. A. Mann, of the regular army, now chief of the division of military affairs of the war department.

The Units Named for Division.

Following is the war department's announcement, under the heading, "Composite National Guard Division:"

The following organizations of the national guard have been selected to compose the forty-second division:

"The following numerical designations have been assigned:

"Division headquarters troop, to consist of the second separate troop, Louisiana cavalry.

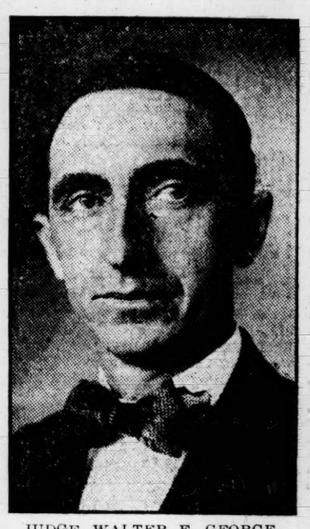

"The division machine gun battalion, number 149, to be composed of the third battalion, Fourth Pennsylvania infantry.

"The infantry brigades to be numbered 83 and 84.

Georgia Judges to Be Promoted

JUDGE WALTER F. GEORGE, of court of appeals, who is to be elevated to supreme court.

JUDGE FRANK HARWELL, Governor's campaign manager, who has been offered place on court of appeals.

GEORGE WILL GET HIGH COURT PLACE

Harwell Is Offered Court of Appeals Vacancy, and Moon Succeeds Harwell on LaGrange City Bench.

The definite announcement came from the governor's office Tuesday afternoon that, in event of the senate's confirmation of the nomination of Justice Beverly D. Evans, of the supreme court of Georgia, to the federal judgeship of the south Georgia district, he will appoint Judge Walter F. George, of the court of appeals, to succeed him; Judge Frank Harwell, of the city court of LaGrange ,to succeed Judge George, and the Hon. E. T. Moon to succeed Judge Harwell.

Judge Harwell was a college mate and fraternity mate of Governor Dorsey's, at the University of Georgia, and was his campaign manager in his race for the governorship.

Mr. Moon was also a college mate of Governor Dorsey. Mr. Moon has served as representative and senator in the general assembly.

Governor Dorsey authorized the following statement:

"In the event of a vacancy on the supreme court bench, which will probably be created by confirmation of Justice Evans to be United States judge for the southern district of Georgia, that Judge Walter F. George, of the court of appeals, will be appointed to the supreme court bench, and Judge Frank Harwell, of the city court of LaGrange, will be appointed to the place on the court of appeals.

"The vacancy created by Judge Harwell's promotion will be given to Hon. E. T. Moon."

Entirely Proper For U.S. Officers To Kill Germans

Grim Little Point of Trench Etiquette Settled for Pershing's Officers by French With Usual Politeness.

American Training Camp in France, August 14.—(By the Associated Press.) A rather grim little point of trench etiquette, which had been puzzling the American officers lately, has been settled by the French with their usual politeness and magnanimity. It has been decided that American officers visiting the French front have the right as guests to carry revolvers or rifles and take a shot at any German who shows his head above an enemy parapet. American officers have been backward about doing this, fearing to trespass upon the inalienable rights of the French to shoot every invader opposite them.

But the French have assured their American comrades that the killing of Germans no longer is a novelty to them and that they are delighted to have the Americans get their first blood acquaintance with the enemy from behind the French lines.

"I had a beautiful chance to shoot a German officer who stood up in a trench for several moments while I was visiting the French front, said one young officer today, "but I was not sure about the etiquette of the situation. Afterward the French commander told me that I should not let etiquette stand in the way, and that he hoped all of us in the future in visiting his sector of the line would bring our revolvers and sniping rifles along."

The American army teems with sharpshooters, who are fairly aching to get a chance to lie in the trenches opposite the Germans and snipe every head that shows itself.

Many of the officers will get this opportunity soon. In anticipation of their visits they are being instructed in the use of gas masks and the ordinary means of taking quick cover from shells or machine gun fire.

The men will not receive their gas drills yet awhile, for none of them will go to the trenches until all the officers have been there and become acquainted with the trench methods and trench habits and the proper manner of handling their men in various trench emergencies.

The ever-increasing number of American officers at the French front makes the American casualty list not only possible, but probable almost any hour.

$9,000,000,000 MORE FOR THE WAR WANTED BY M'ADOO

Congressional Leaders Are Told That This Additional Sum Must Be Authorized at Present and Winter Session.

Washington, August 14.—Congressional leaders were informed by Secretary McAdoo today that it would be necessary for them to authorize at this and the winter session of congress an additional $9,000,000,000 for war expenditures to June 30, 1918, including additional loans to the allies. Five billions in bonds already have been authorized, and a $2,000,000,000 war tax bill is pending now in the senate.

Within an hour after the secretary had conferred with Representative Kitchin, chairman of the house ways and means committee, plans were under way to raise the money. A meeting of the ways and means committee was called for August 25, and arrangements made for the house, now taking three-day recesses, to resume its regular meetings on August 27 and expedite financial legislation.

Issuance of between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000 in bonds to meet new allied loans, authorization of an additional $500,000,000 in taxes to be added to the bill before the senate, probably will be proposed by committee and agreed to by the house. No delay in either authorization is anticipated. The bond issue will be agreed to within a day, Mr. Kitchin predicted, and the $500,000,000 probably will be added to the revenue bill in conference with the approval of the house.

The plan is to have the remainder of the $9,000,000,000 authorized at the next session of congress, beginning in December. Whether it will be raised by bonds or additional taxation, or in what proportion of both, is undecided.

Announcement that authorization of a new bond issue to meet an allied loan was desired came as a surprise to most of the congressional leaders. They thought the conference the secretary sought by Mr. Kitchin was for the purpose of discussing raising possibly an additional $1,000,000,000 or $2,000,000,000 for emergency domestic needs. They planned to authorize it, go home and raise the remaining $4,000,000,000 or $5,000,000,000 it was estimated the war would cost this fiscal year at the next session.

DANIELS DENOUNCES NAVY LEAGUE CHIEFS AS SLANDER SOWERS

Secretary Stirred by Charge That Explosion at Mare Island Yard Was Result of a Conspiracy.

CHARGED THAT LABOR HAS HAMPERED PROBE

Daniels Says Charges Are False and Slanderous. President Thompson, of Navy League, Insists the Charges Are True.

Washington, August 14.—A statement issued today from the headquarters of the Navy league charging that influence of labor interests was hampering investigation of the fatal black powder magazine explosion of the Mare Island navy yard July 9, was followed tonight by a letter from Secretary Daniels to Robert M. Thompson, president of the league, denouncing the statement as false and slanderous and declaring the best service Mr. Thompson and other active officials of his organization can render the navy is to resign at once.

In its statement the league said it had reliable information that the explosion, which killed five men and injured thirty-one, was set off by a time fuse, giving evidence of a criminal conspiracy. The information was made public, it said, because it had been urged that publicity was the only measure that could force action.

Secretary Daniels, in a statement made public with the letter to Colonel Thompson, said a board appointed by the commandant of the navy yard was actively pursuing a full investigation of the explosion; that it had been afforded ample funds and the full resources of the government, and had not been hampered in any way by supplemental instructions from the navy department. It had been current rumor, he added, that the magazine was exploded by a maliciously placed time fuse, but the department had refrained from making any statement concerning it until it was in possession of the full facts.

League Has Attacked Daniels.

The Navy league is a civilian organization formed some twelve years ago to work for a bigger and better navy. Among its members are many retired naval officers; but no one on the active list is connected with it. Mr. Thompson, president for a number of years, is a financier of prominence who graduated at Annapolis and attained the rank of master in the navy before resigning in 1871.

Since Secretary Daniels took office the league has vigorously attacked him and his policies.

The Navy league, in its statement which is remarkable in many respects, says its informant contends that the discovery of the fuse gives evidence of a criminal conspiracy.

The navy department, it is said, has made no announcement other than that an investigation was being made. The name of the league's informant is withheld, but the statement says he is one "whose daily work would place him in a position to know the facts," and continues:

"It is clearly proper that investigation into such an occurrence as the Mare Island explosion must and should be made secretly and the league realizes that the mere circumstance that no statements have been made to the press regarding the progress of an investigation does not warrant the assumption that no proper investigation is being made.

"On the other hand, the fact must be faced that a government department could employ this veil of proper secrecy to hide the fact that the investigation had been blocked."

The statement concludes:

"The league sincerely hopes that in giving publicity to this information, it is serving the higher public interest which is its one and only purpose."

Daniels to Thompson.

Secretary Daniels' letter to Mr. Thompson follows:

"Some time ago you called at the navy department and stated that you wished the navy league to be in thorough harmony with the navy department, and that if I thought that your continuance and the continuance of Mr. Slaton as secretary would make it impossible for the navy league to help the navy, you would both retire, and would be pleased to have me suggest officers who would work in harmony with the department. Although certain members of the navy league had for years been unfair in their criticisms, I knew that the bulk of its membership was composed of patriotic citizens who had no part or lot in such use of the league. You will recall that I told you at the time that the navy league was a purely voluntary organization, had no connection whatever with the navy department, and that while I had not been in accord with some things the navy league had done, I did not desire to have any direction of the league or make any

SENATE COMMITTEE CUTS OFF MILLION FROM HOUSE BILL

Common School Fund Is Put Back to Three Millions, Which Is $300,000 Above 1917 Appropriation.

EXTRA SESSION HINGES ON THIS DAY'S ACTION

While Governor's Message Has Influenced Many House Members to Yield to Cut, Result Is Still in Doubt.

EXTRA SESSION SLATED BY ATTITUDE OF HOUSE

House protagonists of the $1,300,000 increase in appropriations to common schools, upon a count of noses at last night's session of the house, made the assertion that they were strong enough to carry the fight to a finish for this figure, and that they stood ready to do so.

They offered informally a compromise to the opponents of the big increase, to the effect that they would submit to a cut in the appropriation to common schools to a flat $3,000,000 on condition the appropriations to all higher institutions of learning were cut 50 per cent; or they would agree to a cut in the common schools appropriation to $3,300,000, on condition the appropriations to all higher institutions of learning were cut 40 per cent. Defenders of the higher institutions stated that they could accept no such disadvantageous compromise.

This temper of the house presages the bitterest sort of a fight and enhances the possibilities of an extra session.

The senate appropriations committee reported the general appropriations bill for passage at the afternoon session of the senate Tuesday, with the recommendation that the extra $1,000,000 voted by the house for common schools be cut off, and that the common schools appropriation be left at an even $3,000,000, which includes the original $300,000 increase over the last appropriation that was recommended by the house appropriations committee.

After voting upon several special appropriations bills the senate adjourned until Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, which time it will take up consideration of the general appropriations bill, copies of which are to be printed for the senators in the meantime.

The governor's message to the general assembly has undoubtedly had an effect of bringing the legislature down to a serious consideration of its responsibilities in possibly necessitating an extra session of the legislature, but it was Tuesday night by no means clear that an extra session will not be necessary.

A strenuous effort will be made on the floor of the senate by various senators Wednesday morning to have the upper branch work to the end of obviating the necessity for an extra session.

Cost of Extra Session.

The senate will be asked to agree to the report of the committee in cutting the extra $1,000,000 to common schools and thus reduce the excess appropriations above prospective revenue. Success of this move and concurrence of the house would make an extra session unnecessary. Otherwise it is hardly likely that an extra session can be avoided. Senators would not Tuesday night venture an assertion as to the temper of the senate on the $1,000,000 item. On the contrary, there was some revival of the early talk of making still another big increase in the appropriations to common schools.

The governor's message has dissuaded a good many members of the house from insisting upon the excess appropriations, but the danger of an extra session is not over.

The afternoon session of the senate adjourned when some of the senators objected to taking up the special appropriations before the general appropriations bill.

Several special appropriations were passed at the afternoon session, as follows:

For Tech, $30,000 for the power plant.

For the South Georgia Normal college, at Valdosta, $12,500 for the completion of a building now in course of construction there.

For the Fifth District Agricultural and Mechanical college, at Monroe, $10,-

ISHII SEES JAPAN AND UNITED STATES WORK AS COMRADES

Head of Japanese Mission Declares That a New Day Is Dawning for the Nations.

A Pacific Port, August 14.—A new day among nations, in which Japan and America shall "forget the little mole hills that have been exaggerated into mountains to bar our good relations," and "march together, work together and fight together as comrades," was pledged here tonight by Viscount K. Ishii, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the United States.

Heading a special mission, Viscount Ishii spoke for his government at a dinner tendered him by this municipality. The viscount was presented by Gavin McNab, an attorney sent from Washington to arrange the reception of the mission, and by the governor of the state and the mayor of the city.

Address of Japanese Envoy.

The ambassador said:

"We come to you at the dawning of a new day. As individuals we have no right to expect to find place at this busy time of preparation. But we come as the humble representatives of the gracious sovereign of a friendly and a loyal nation, and we say that we know well that performance not profession, deeds not words, sacrifices not selfishness, are the requisites of the hour.

"Our message is that in this day, though its hours of shadow or of sunshine your purpose, is our purpose, your road our road, and your goal our goal. It is that American and Japan will march together, work together and fight together as comrades until the end has been reached and the victory won in the struggle which involves our rights and our liberties.

"It is for that—and I take the liberty of using the words of your great president, Abraham Lincoln—in order that each of us may enjoy an open field and a fair chance for our industry, enterprise and intelligence that the struggle must be maintained; that we may not lose our birthright—the right of humanity.

"We are here to say that in this tremendous struggle for those rights and liberties, America and Japan are bound together; that when the victory of the allied forces is secure, America and Japan should so live that your sons and our sons will have a certainty of good neighborhood; so live that no word or deed of either can be looked upon with suspicion; that venomous gossip, hired slander, sinister intrigue and influences, of which we have both been the victims, can in future only serve to bring us closer together for mutual protection and for the common welfare.

Importance of Co-Operation.

"The importance of this co-operation was brought home to us particularly as we voyaged safely and pleasantly across the Pacific ocean. It becomes the first duty of Japan and America to guard the Pacific and to insure safe continuous intercourse between Asia and the United States; to see to it that the ships of the ferocious pirates whose crimes upon the high seas can never be palliated, find no shelter in the waters of our seas.

"It is for us together to continue to enforce respect for law and humanity upon the Pacific, from which the German menace was removed at the commencement of the war. Had this not been so; had the barbarian of Europe not been rooted from his Oriental bases, the shuddering horrors of the Atlantic and the Mediterranean would today be a grim reality on the Pacific. In the protection of our sea-going merchandise and men, in safeguarding the pleasures of intercourse, you may count on us, and we must count on you.

"In the dawning of this new day of stress and strain let us forget the little mole hills that have been exaggerated into mountains to bar our good relations. Let us see together with a clearer vision the pitfalls dug by a cunning enemy in our path. Let us together fix our eyes upon the star of principle which shall lead us together most surely to a participation in the triumph of the right, to a certain victory in the greatest and, let us hope, the last great war in human history.

New World After Victory.

"And when that victory shall have been won, let us together help in the upbuilding of a new world, which shall rise, fair and strong, and beautiful, from the ashes of the old."

The speaker's table was dotted with uniforms. High officers of the American army sat in khaki, with Major General Hisaichi Sugano; naval officers in blue surrounded Vice Admiral T. Takeshita, the ranking army and navy representatives in the mission. The state department delegation was headed by Breckenridge Long, third assistant secretary.

Late in the afternoon General Sugano was given his first glimpse of American troops in force when he reviewed 6,000 soldiers and sailors with Major General Hunter Liggett, commanding the western department of the army. At the end of the review he said simply: "These are splendid troops. It has been a pleasure to see them."

An excursion into the surrounding country and a visit to a large encampment of troops are on the commission's program for tomorrow.

Governor Dorsey has issued requisition upon the governor of Alabama for the return to this state of J. B. Buchanan, who is wanted in Fulton county on a charge of burglary.

Eggs Showered On Suffragists At White House

Mob Was Enraged by "Kaiser Wilson" Banners—The Banners Were Destroyed and Women Bombarded With Eggs.

Washington, August 14.—A good-natured crowd of about a thousand men and women today bombarded the Woman's Party headquarters with eggs and destroyed several banners addressed to "Kaiser Wilson," after similar banners had been taken away from women who attempted to parade them in front of the white house.

The disturbance, shifting from the white house gates to the women's office across LaFayette square and back again as banner-bearers continued to appear, lasted more than two hours. The police observed it with indifference until near the end, when two arrests were made.

Jack Gotlieb, a Washington youth, who climbed to a second floor balcony at suffragist headquarters and tore an American flag from a pole hanging over the railing, was held in $300 bond and charged with desecration of the American flag. He said he removed the flag because it had no place on such a building. Louis Lawych, a government clerk, taken into custody in front of a white house gate after tearing down one of the "Kaiser Wilson" banners, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Attempt to Rescue.

When Lawych was arrested a half dozen bluejackets and youngsters in the white of the naval reserve, attempted to take him away from the lone policeman who had him in charge. One of the men in uniform swung on the officer's jaw and in the excitement that followed the would-be rescuers escaped through Lafayette square just across Pennsylvania avenue.

The women went back to headquarters after their last banner was taken from them, followed by a jeering crowd which fell in line and carried bits of the banners on canes and sticks. By this time the police reserve from several nearby stations were on hand, and when the crowd found no more banners were to be brought out quickly dispersed. There were reports during the disorder that a shot had been fired at the building. After the crowd had gone the women showed a hole through the heavy glass of one of the windows over a balcony from which the banners had been displayed. They said a policeman who examined it declared it to be a bullet hole and pointed to another hole in the ceiling of the hall behind.

In all, twenty of the banners addressed to "Kaiser Wilson" and fifteen color standards bearing no legend were destroyed. The crowd apparently enjoyed the whole demonstration hugely. None of the women were hurt, although a few stones were thrown at the headquarters building and some of the bearers struggled valiantly, but unsuccessfully, to retain their banners.

No Organized Mob.

There was no organized mob and the active participants were mostly young men from nearby departments who seemed as much interested in getting a bit of banner or a piece of the poles that bore them for trophies, as they were in effacing the sentiments they carried.

The first bearers were attacked and relieved of their banners in front of the white house shortly after 4 o'clock. Soon afterwards the crowd went to the hedquarters to catch the women before they could approach the white house gates. Bearer after bearer left the door only to have her banner snapped from its pole, torn into dozens of pieces and distributed. When this had gone on for a while the women began to hang banners out of the windows and over the balcony railing.

It wasn't long before a ladder appeared and a Western Union messenger boy, supported by a bluejacket and several enlisted men in white, swarmed up the ladder and the banners were torn down one by one. The women resisted as well as they could and tried hard to throw the ladder from the side of the building, but were not strong enough.

Gotlieb, who constituted his own boarding party, climbed the ladder, tore the American flag from its pole and let it fall gently to the ground.

Eggs came into play about this time and most of the women on the balcony were driven indoors for shelter.

TEUTONS CHECKED ON RUMANIA FRONT

Russians and Rumanians Beat Back Strong Attacks North of Fokshani—British Gain in Flanders.

New York, August 14.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—The Russians and Rumanians have checked for the time being the offensive of Field Marshal von Mackensen in the region of Fokshani, while in western Moldavia the Rumanians continue successfully their counter offensive. In the Ocna-Grozechti region the Austro-Germans have been dislodged from the village of Slanic, as well as from heights southwest of Grozechti.

North of Fokshani the Russians and Rumanians beat back several strong attacks by the enemy. Berlin reports continued heavy fighting around Fokshani, claims little advances for the Teutons and says that Russo-Rumanian attacks were checked.

GERMANS DRIVEN ON FLANDERS LINE.

Northeast of Ypres, in Flanders, British troops have forced German posts to retire across the Steenbeke river, which lies east of the Ypres-Thourout railway and in the region of Langemarck. Field Marshal Haig's men held their gain and re-established their line on the eastern bank of the river. Elsewhere from the coast to St. Quentin the artillery firing has increased in some sectors and the British have carried out a number of successful raids, the most important being in the environs of Lens by the Canadians.

French reconnoitering parties have penetrated the German lines near Rheims in two places. Elsewhere in Champagne, as well as at Cerny, on the Aisne front, and in the Carspach sector the French repulsed German surprise attacks.

POPE'S PEACE PLAN "MADE IN GERMANY"

diplomatic discussion such great questions as Italia Irredentia, a free Poland and Alsace-Lorraine might be rejected on many grounds, close observers foresee the possibility of embarrassments in declining to discuss proposals which the president himself brought before the world. The allied statesmen realize that once consideration of any part of the pope's proposals begins, pacifists and socialist elements are at once enabled to take up discussions which will embarrass their governments.

President Wilson's own view of what reply shall be made obviously cannot accurately be ascertained at the present time. His latest public pronouncements on the most vital of the proposals Pope Benedict makes are interesting.

Wilson Against Status Quo Ante.

When the new Russian government was wavering on the point of making a separate peace and declaring for no annexations and no indemnities, the president in a message to the Russian people declared:

"Of course, the imperial German government and those whom it is using for their own undoing are seeking to obtain pledges that the war will elect in the restoring of the status quo ante. It was the status quo ante out of which this iniquitous war issued forth; the power of the imperial German government within the empire and its widespread domination and influence outside of that empire. That status must be altered in such fashion as to prevent any such hideous thing from happening again."

Two days later in his Flag day address the president, referring to the military masters of Germany, said:

"If they can secure peace now with the immense advantages still in their hands which they have up to this point apparently gained, they will have justified themselves before the German people; they will have gained by force what they promised to gain by it; an immense expansion of German power; an immense enlargement of German industrial and commercial opportunities. Their prestige will be secure and with their prestige their political powers."

In his war address to congress the president declared for spending the whole force of the nation if need be to check and nullify the pretensions and power of the German military autocracy. This phrase, now universally accepted as the war aim of all the allies, the entente diplomats here contend, hardly fits in with a restoration of the status quo before the war, a return of Germany's colonies and no restitution for Belgium.

Entente Diplomats Not Responsive.

Without advices of any kind from their own governments, the entente embassies were intensely interested in the Associated Press cablegrams from Rome.

Diplomatic practice prevents any authorized expressions of opinion for publication, but it was apparent at once that the peace proposal falls on unreceptive ears, so far as the diplomats here are concerned. The entente representatives without the slightest difference of opinion declared the proposal originated with Germany, using Austria as an intermediary with the vatican, because of the better standing of that great Catholic empire with the pope.

It was pointed out that it is important to know whether the proposals came full fledged from Vienna or Berlin, or whether the pope himself framed them in the light of an understanding he may have acquired of the minimum demands of the central powers.

The entente diplomats agree that the peace proposals did not come from any of the allied capitals.

Entente diplomats here, naturally looking to the reception of the pope's proposal by the American government, recall with much satisfaction President Wilson's demand for "reparation" from the central powers as a very significant and pregnant supplement to Mr. Balfour's demand for "restitution;" and are certain it warrants the conclusion that there will be no disposition on the part of America to accept any terms of peace which could not be subscribed to by all of the other fifteen governments joined in the great war.

Arbitration Not Possible.

"Peaceful solution," with reference to the problems of Alsace-Lorraine, Trent, Triest and Poland is generally interpreted in entente circles here to mean submission of those problems to arbitration. As such an arbitration would be impossible of attainment, because practically all nations who might in ordinary times serve as arbitrators, are now interested parties, the entente representatives believe that under the proposal is concealed a design to bring these important subjects upon the conference table when the peace delegates gather. Such a scheme was uncovered in the very first proposal for peace broached by Von Bethmann-Hollweg, only to be spurned by the unanimous voice of the entente powers, and there is no reason to believe that it would be any more welcome now.

Libraries for Cantonments.

Washington, August 14.—Plans to provide libraries for the war army cantonments were made today at a meeting here of representatives of the American Library association from the south and east. A campaign was started to raise at least $1,000,000 for the camp libraries fund. The association will co-operate with the commission on training camp activities and the war department.

MACON BUSINESS MEN MAY SAVE THE LINE

Macon, Ga., August 14.—(Special.)—The Macon boat line which has operated between Macon and Savannah has been saved to the city, it was announced tonight, the necessary funds with which to take the boats off the hands of the bondholders having been subscribed by local business men today.

Yesterday it was announced that because of the refusal of many business men to come forward with subscriptions the committee had decided to abandon the project and permit the boats to be sold elsewhere. Today, however, many seeing that the city was about to lose the line, came forward and gave in their pledges. Three subscriptions of $3,000 each were reported today.

The boat line company wil be reorganized and placed on a sound financial footing and the two electricaly propelled barges placed in operation again between Macon and Savannah.

RAPID PROGRESS IS MADE BY ATLANTA EXEMPTION BOARDS

Almost Three-Fourths of City's Quota of 882 for the National Army Have Been Obtained.

WILL CHALLENGE EVERY CLAIM FOR DEPENDENTS

City Attorney Mayson Will Act for the Government in City Cases, and County Attorney Pomeroy in Cases From County.

DISTRICT BOARD DOWN TO ACTUAL WORK TODAY

The north Georgia district exemption board, which will pass on practically every exemption granted by the local boards within the district, will meet this morning at its headquarters at 105 Capitol square, to consider individual cases of exemptions, in all probability, according to a statement made yesterday by W. P. Raoul, secretary of the board.

A lare force of clerks was engaged Tuesday in preparing the printed forms issued by the government to the board on which records of all cases acted upon by the board will be tabulated.

"The system is a strict one," Mr. Raoul said, "and we will have to be extremely careful in our work. It is almost like keeping a court docket, and the least mistake will set us back in our work.

"We are having the forms sent us by the government put in shape for instant use, so that when we refer to a case we can tell in an instant just what class it will be included in."

It was stated that the members expected to rush things after today in order to begin the work of making final rulings in cases which would come before it.

Atlanta's seven exemption boards have obtained approximately three-fourths of the city quota of 882 men for the first national army, which is to be mobilized in September. Additional men were certified to the district board for the army by Divisions Nos. 2, 4, 5 and 7 Tuesday.

City Attorney James L. Mayson, who has been appointed by the government, is making preparations to challenge every case of exemption granted by the various city exemption boards on grounds of dependents. County Attorney E. E. Pomeroy is likewise preparing to challenge such exemptions granted by the county exemption board.

Division 4 Complete.

With the certification of additional men to the district board Tuesday as subject for military service, Division No. 4 (fourth ward) completed its quota of 154 men.

Aldine Chambers, chairman of exemption board for Division No. 3 (third ward) issued a statement Tuesday declaring that married men had more cause to fight Germany than single men, and for this reason married men would be taken in his division the same as single men in cases where their wives are able to make their own living. His statement was in answer to statements made by the members of the local exemption board for Division No. 2 (second ward), to the effect that no married man would be taken except as the selective draft law provided in cases where their wives had separate incomes, or earned their own living.

Keep The Nests Free Of Vermin

Keep your nests and hens free of vermin and you will get more eggs. Lice sap the strength of the hens and prevent them from laying freely. A liberal use of BEE BRAND INSECT POWDER will get rid of the bugs. By using the powder at regular intervals they will be kept down. Harmless to human beings and domestic animals.

Frock for Fall

Charming Little Styles of Taffeta

$12.75, $15.00 and $17.85

New!

Inexpensive! In fact, values!

We mean that the silks are better grades than we usually find in dresses at these prices; we mean the styles are more attractive, more becoming than we usually find at these prices; we mean they show more careful workmanship than we usually find at these prices.

Eight styles to choose from.

Some Have Georgette Sleeves
Some Have Taffeta Sleeves

The latter will suggest themselves as particularly suitable for wear late into the fall season.

There's a good deal of shirring; there are covered buttons; there's an occasional metal buckle; there are plaited and draped skirts.

Most of them are navy blue and black.

Many Women Are Selecting Their New Fall Suits

Fact is, the fall suit can be selected just a little more satisfactorily right now than will be possible later on, just so large and varied and attractive is the display (we've more than two hundred new suits right now).

All the new ideas—in weaves, in colors, in tailoring, in trimming.

Prices begin at $25.00 and go very gradually up to $98.50.

WHEAT CONTROL BOARD HAS BEEN SELECTED

Washington, August 14.—Creation of a wheat control board under the food administration to supervise the distribution of wheat was completed today and the board's personnel will be announced tomorrow. Detailed plans for controlling wheat will be made known within a few days.

Julius Barnes, of Duluth, an exporter, probably will head the new board. Mr. Barnes has been serving as an unofficial adviser to Herbert Hoover since the food administrator returned from Europe at President Wilson's request to take charge of the food situation.

The control of flour manufacture will be left largely in the hands of the millers themselves. Representatives of the millers will meet in Chicago this week to go over the situation.

Representatives of the country's grain interests are due here tomorrow to confer with Mr. Barnes. The food administration will explain its proposed program for wheat control which includes licensing of elevators and the fixing of a price to be paid the wheat grower for his product.

The committee to fix wheat prices, headed by President Garfield, of Williams college, will comprise nine members. Several members already have been selected and the others will be chosen within a few days.

Reports that the government was looking into the situation with a view of taking over the mines in event the disputants cannot be brought together were not given credence by the operators.

Mine owners here declared there was no change in the situation.

DEFENSE COUNCIL PASSED BY HOUSE

Flood of Important Measures Rushed Through at Night Session--College Endowment Measure Ready for People's Ratification.

At a two-hour session last night the house got down to real business and passed up ten general bills, including a bill to create a state council of defense. This bill is a substitute, drawn in conference with the governor, and introduced by Representative Burwell, of Hancock, to the house committee substitute for the original senate bill, and will have to go back to the senate today for its approval. The vote in favor of the bill was 99 to 0.

The bill is based on the act creating the national council of defense and the state council to be created by this bill is to co-operate with the national council. The bill carries no appropriation, and with this exception is much like the bill originally passed by the senate, so that the senate likely will find no objection to the substitute.

Make-up of Council.

The bill provides for the creation of a council of defense consisting of sixteen members, as follows:

The governor, the commissioner of commerce and labor, the state superintendent of schools, the commissioner of agriculture, the adjutant general, eleven other members to be appointed by the governor, as follows:

One representative of labor.

One representative of the farmers.

Two women to co-ordinate all women's activities contemplated by the act, that they may be utilized to the best advantage in conjunction with other efforts of Georgia in behalf of state welfare and national defense.

One minister of the gospel.

A physician who shall represent the medical profession.

One representative of the bankers.

One representative of the railroads.

One representative engineer.

One citizen of Georgia who shall represent the commercial interests of the state.

The governor is to be an ex-officio member of all committees of the council and he is clothed with power to remove at any time any appointed member of the council. The governor is named chairman of the council.

The purpose of the council, as set forth in the first section of the bill, is that "of rendering advice and assistance to the governor in the performance of all things he may require of them, in bringing about the highest efficiency in the administration of the affairs of this state, and the greatest effectiveness, during our present national crisis, in the co-ordination of all our state efforts with those of the federal government as well as with those of other states of the union, whose functions shall cease with the last day of the session of the general assembly to be held next after the close of the war, unless otherwise enacted by the general assembly."

The services of the members of the council are to be of a patriotic nature and no compensation is povided for the service, except that members shall be entitled to traveling expenses and sustenance when in attendance upon official business and duties of the council.

The council is empowered in the bill to form advisory or other committees outside its membership and to organize subordinate bodies for its assistance in each county of the state. The council can also conduct special investigations and can employ such experts as may be needed in its work. The council is empowered to gather such data and statistics and make such registrations as may be necessary for the assistance of the governor in accomplishing the ends for which it is designed, to subpoena witnesses, and compel attendance of such witnesses through action brought in a superior court.

Should the necessity arise the council can require the assistance of the several county and municipal governments of the state in its work.

The bill further requires "complete and full co-operation of associations and organizations in this state which are now, or may hereafter be, created, for the purpose of carrying on defense work," and such organizations are "made tributary to and subject to the supervision and direction of" the council of defense.

Other Bills Passed.

Other bills passed at the night session of the house were as follows:

A bill which would provide for increasing the maximum number of directors for trust companies from 18 to 25.

A bill which would provide a means whereby Confederate veterans whose pensions are due, and for the payment of which the state may not at that time have the money, may assign their pensions. A maximum fee or interest for this service is fixed at $2.50.

A bill which would limit the land which may be condemned by the federal government for forest reserve purposes to such land as may be offered to the federal government by the ostensible owner in writing, the object of this bill being to protect several of the mountain counties of north Georgia from having too much of their land taken, thus reducing the taxable values of the counties.

A bill which would provide for the opening of interrogatories in recess.

A bill for the creation of a district agricultural school for the twelfth congressional district.

Two companion bills were passed which would authorize fraternal societies to issue benefit certificates to persons under 16 years of age, provided such persons are related to a member of such a society.

College Exemption Passed.

The college endowment exemption bill, which lacked a constitutional majority last year and failed of passage by a few votes, went through the house Tuesday afternoon with votes to spare—144 to 29. The bill was fought by Mr. Hall and a few others. There now remains only the governor's signature to submit it to the people.

The bill to provide a method for the collection of 10 per cent attorney's fees on mortgages the same as on notes was killed.

The measure to authorize the purchase of the Parks code for distribution among state offices passed.

The bill to authorize Tech to sell the real estate bequeathed to it by J. L. Brown and to make the chairman of the board, former Governor N. E. Harris, field and financial agent for the college, to solicit endowments and donations, passed, 117 to 21, despite the fact that it was thought by Messrs. Hall and Pickett.

A movement has been started by Spencer R. Atkinson and others which will go through, to develop in Georgia an oyster industry as large as that in Norfolk. The purpose is to appoint a commission to investigate and prepare a bill to provide for the lease of 150 miles of frontage between the mouth of the Savannah river and the Florida line, which belongs to the state. This property, it is claimed by the movants, is worth $5,000,000.

Morning Session.

The Scriptures were quoted on the floor of the house of representatives Tuesday morning to pass the law giving the railroad commission the power during the period of the war, to permit the operation of railroad trains on Sunday. The bill, a senate measure, came on for passage in the house and a faction of that body, headed by Mr. Swift, of Muscogee, fought it hard. Half a dozen or more of the members declared the operation of trains on Sunday will be a desecration of the day and Mr. Hart, of Greene, exhibiting a large crayon picture of the kaiser in one hand and the Bible in the other, said he didn't want to see the people of Georgia adopt the kaiser's policy that the ends always justify the means.

It was in reply to this and to other declarations for Sunday observance that Representative Burwell quoted the Scripture on the members of the house, and the bill passed by a vote of 105 to 71.

The one other incident in the house of moment in the morning session was the fight which developed on the passage of the bill to prevent desecration and commercialization of the American flag. Mr. Anderson, of Jenkins, fought the bill, and declared there is something more behind the measure than merely preventing the commercializing of the flag. The bill passed 119 to 3, the three members voting against it being Messrs. Anderson, of Jenkins; Moore, of Heard, and Stone, of Grady.

The bill designed to provide for the collection of back taxes, admitted to have been drawn to reach the Jim Smith estate, and which was lost Monday by the lack of five votes to reach the requisite majority, was reconsidered, and will remain on the calendar until next year.

A bill to authorize state banks, with $100,000 capital or more, to act as executors, administrators, guardians, trustees, etc., in the matter of estates, by changing their charter, was passed 103 to 2. A similar bill was passed Monday in behalf of the national banks.

The bill authorizing the appointment of a deputy clerk of the court of appeals, because of the heavy increase in the work in that office was passed.

The bill to increase the board of trustees of the Valdosta Normal and Industrial college was passed.

SENATE COMMITTEE CUTS OFF MILLION

000 in 1918 and $10,000 in 1919 for the construction of a girls' dormitory.

The drainage act was amended so as to allow bond issues of $50,000 for drainage purposes instead of the present limit of $20,000, and to allow 8 per cent interest instead of the present limit of 6 per cent.

Road Tax Bill Beaten.

In a fight led by Senator Redwine the house bill of Representaties Davenport and Palmour, of Hall, providing a $1 per day road tax in lieu of the present 50 cents per day tax was killed, the contention of the senator being that the increase in the tax would cut down the road fund and increase the individual work upon the roads by those who were liable for the tax, which, he did not believe, would be conducive to efficiency.

A bill was passed directing the tax of property located on a county line to be paid to the county upon whose territory the largest improvements were located.

The senate declined to concur in the house amendment to the senate bill placing employment and immigration agencies under the jurisdiction of the state commissioner of commerce and labor. The house amendment would kill a provision in the original bill which made the act inoperative against strikes and lockouts. The house then declined to recede from its position, and Senator Andrews called for a conference. The conference committee consists of Senators Andrews, Elders and Logan and Representatives Burwell, Zach Arnold and Russell. This committee will meet at 8:45 Wednesday morning.

Torrens Bil Passed.

After struggling through several sessions of the legislature, the Torrens land title bill was finally passed by the senate at its Tuesday morning session and now awaits the governor's signature to become a law.

Besides local legislation, the senate passed Tuesday two other important general bills.

One of these bills would create the state market bureau, placing it under the direction of the state commissioner of agriculture and giving him power to appoint the director of the bureau. The bill carries an appropriation of $15,000.

The other of these two bills is the house substitute for the bill to raise the age of consent. While the substitute as adopted provides that the age of consent shall be raised from 10 to 14 years, it is contended by some members of the senate that it does nothing of the sort, in that it provides that the female, between the ages of 10 and 14 years, must prove lack of consent. It is conceded, however, that the bill strengthens somewhat the present law. It provides for a penalty of from 1 to 10 years for violation where the female is between the ages of 10 and 14 years, and it exempts boys under 14 years of age from the operation of this bill, leaving trial and punishment in such cases under the existing law.

In passing the bill to create the state market bureau, the question of politics was dragged out and thoroughly aired when Senator Heath introduced an amendment to make the director of the bureau appointive by the governor instead of the commissioner of agriculture, his reason, as given, being that he did not wish to see any more appointive power piled upon the commissioner of agriculture. Senator Skelton and others argued that, for the sake of efficiency, the appointment of the director should be placed with the commissioner; that Senator Heath's amendment was for the purpose of "dealing out pie," and that the governor did not desire the power to appoint the director. The amendment was killed overwhelmingly.

The Torrens land title bill, which has been championed by Senator Elders in the senate, is regarded as one of the most important general bills pending in the assembly. Its passage was accomplished over the effort of Senator Andrews to have the bill tabled in order that it might lie over until the next session and give the members of the legislature more opportunity to study it. Senator Andrews was of the opinion that it will cost $25,000 to put the law into operation.

The governor's message was read.

The senate met again at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, at which session the appropriations committee of the senate reported the general appropriations bill for passage and the consideration of the bill was taken up.

MACON COMPANIES ORDERED TO FRANCE

to comprise the 150th machine gun battalion, composed of Companies E, F and G, Second Wisconsin infantry; the 165th infantry (sixty-ninth New York infantry), and the 166th infantry (Fourth Ohio infantry) national guard.

"The Eighty-fourth infantry brigade to comprise the 151st machine gun battalion (Companies B, C and F, Second eorgia infantry); 167th infantry (Fourth Alabama infantry), and the 168th infantry (Third Iowa infantry).

"The artillery brigade, to be numbered Sixty-seventh, comprises:

"The 149th field artillery (First Illinois field artillery); the 150th field artillery (First Indiana field artillery); the 151st field artillery (First Minnesota field artillery), and the 117th trench mortar battery, to be composed of the third and fourth companies Maryland coast artillery corps.

The Engineer Regiment.

"The engineer regiment of the division will be numbered 117th. The first battalion will be formed from the first separate battalion, engineers, South Carolina, and the second battalion will be formed of the first separate battalion, engineers, California.

"The divisional field battalion, signal troops, will be organized from the Missouri national guards. The headquarters train and military police will be organized from the coast artillery corps, Virginia. The engineer train will be organized from the North Carolina troops. The ammunition train will be organized from the Kansas troops, and the supply train from the Texas troops. They will be known respectively as the 117th field battalion, signal troops; the 117th headquarters train and military police; the 117th engineer train; the 117th ammunition train and the 117th supply train.

"The sanitary train, to be known as the 117th sanitary train, will be comprised of the first, second, third and fourth ambulance companies, being respectively the first ambulance companies of Michigan, New Jersey, Tennessee and Oklahoma; the first, second, third and fourth field hospital companies, being respectively the first field hospital companies of Nebraska, Colorado, Oregon and the District of Columbia."

Total Strength About 20,000 Men.

Discussion of the time and place of mobilization of the division or of its departure for France are not permissible under the voluntary censorship. The structure of the division as given in the official statement shows it will conform to the reduced trench warfare divisional organization recommended by Major General Pershing, which would give it a total strength with auxiliary troops of approximately 20,000 men. The two infantry brigade formation, each brigade to be composed of two regiments, indicates a very large increase in the size of infantry regiments. The fact that numerical designations have been assigned to the brigade throughout also indicates the adoption of the European battalion administrative unit system, although the regimental organization of three battalions to a regiment is retained.

While no explanation of the reason for forming this composite division as the first tactical organization of the national guard to be perfected since the state troops were drafted into the federal army, it is known that the plan has been indorsed by the governors of virtually all the states. The effect presumably will be to solidify the national guard and to give the whole country an interest in the division which might not be so strong if the troops from any one state had been used to form this tactical unit.

DANIELS DENOUNCES NAVY LEAGUE CHIEFS

statement with reference to who should be its officers.

"In few, however, of the false and slanderous statement given out by the navy league today, I am writing to say that the chief service which you and other active officials of the navy league can render to the navy is to resign at once and permit the league to be directed by those who in a crisis like the present could not permit a statement to be given out to the public which attempts to discredit the entire navy deparment and which will be read with disgust and contempt by every honest citizen of America."

No Report on Explosion.

In his statement Mr. Daniels said that immediately after the explosion the commandant of the Mare Island navy yard was directed to make a complete investigation to fix the cause and responsibility.

"The board appointed by the commandant," the statement added, "has actively pursued this investigation, but its report has not as yet been received in the navy department.

"The board in carrying out its work has in no way whatever been hampered or restricted by any supplemental instructions from the navy department, but has been afforded ample funds and the full resources of the government."

Mr. Daniels' statement then referred to the rumors which have been current that the explosion was caused by a time fuse, but said the department would make no statement on this until it is in possession of all the facts. The statement concluded:

"The attention of the public is invited to the deliberate attempt of the responsible agent of the navy league to publish a statement which, even if true, should not have been given out without reference to the department. Inasmuch as it is false, the action in giving it circulation shows a malicious attempt to discredit the navy department and the capable officers who are doing everything possible to ferret out the cause of the accident and obtain evidence that would fix the responsibility. If I were to state to the public all the steps that the officers charged with this duty have taken and are taking, the people would despise the slanderers who attempted to impugn their honesty and sincerity.

"The false suggestion that any action or lack of action has been due to the navy department's attitude toward labor is too contemptible to deserve notice."

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, August 14.—(Special.) Judge T. E. He called today at the war department with Representative Howard in an effort to have the department waive regulation as to age and permit him to enter the August training camp at Fort Oglethorpe. He was advised definitely, however, that this could not be done.

NEYLE COLQUITT LANDS RIGHT HOOK ON ENEMY

Georgian in Fierce Fight With Washington Lawyer Because of Defamatory Letter.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, August 14.—(Special.)—An interesting incident in which a defamatory letter, a fist fight, a criminal warrant and a threatened suit for damages for personal injuries were involved, was closed today when Edward Lawman and Neyle Colquitt, two local attorneys, the former with two decorated eyes and other facial disfigurements and the latter with a broken hand in a sling, shook hands in the presence of mutual friends.

Lawman, under a misapprehension, wrote Colquitt a letter which the latter considered defamatory. Later he learned of his mistake, but before he could apologize Colquitt went to his office and applied to him an unprintable epithet. This provoked a fight. Both are big men and witnesses say it was a battle royal. Lawman acted as the receiving end of an awful walloping before he finally went down and out. The blow, a right hook to the chin, broke Colquitt's right hand.

Lawman swore out a warrant for assault and battery and was preparing to institute suit for personal injuries when friends interceded. Lawman apologized for the letter he had written and Colquitt expressed his regrets and the prosecution was withdrawn.

This hearse, constructed on a special Cadillac chassis, equipped with the latest appliances, and finished in motor gray, is only one item in our complete motor equipment, which includes Flower Hearse, Seven-Passenger Limousine and Automobile Ambulance. Every other funeral detail is similarly modern and of fine appearance.

When you call upon Donehoo all minor details and worries are taken from your mind. You know IN ADVANCE what you will pay for a complete funeral, and what is included. There are no extra charges, no misunderstandings. And the price always is ABSOLUTELY JUST.

Navy Workers Asked For Reading Matter.

The Navy League of the United States is making the suggestion to women workers of the United States for the navy that they add to their knitting activities a bureau of reading matter, this matter to be clipped from magazines and newspapers, and sent in that form rather than in the bulk of books and magazines carrying advertisments, etc. A circular letter from the comforts committee of the navy bearing upon the subject has been sent to Mrs. Samuel Inman, chairman of the Georgia division, Woman's Committee National Council of Defense, the letter in part as follows:

"It is proposed to further supplement the comfort of the sailor and marine by adding to his material as well as bodily comfort, and to this end the assistance of your community is solicited in the gathering of clippings from newspapers, magazines, illustrated periodicals, in fact, anything that will interest and entertain our officers, sailors and marines when not at the gun or torpedo. A few minutes a day with scissors and the morning papers (especially the Sunday papers) will make this scheme one of the greatest of the many relief projects that the war has engendered.

"The Navy league will furnish the envelopes in which to place the clippings, and, while individual efforts are encouraged, it is recommended that clubs be formed and the daily clippings collected by some one member and forwarded once a week to the comforts committee of the Navy league, where they will be distributed proportionately to every ship in the navy and company of marines. Especial care will be taken of envelopes addressed to individual officers or men, to see that they are sent to their proper destination. This can only be done by those acquainted with the whereabouts of men and ships—information not given to the public, but within the knowledge of the Navy league.

"It is recommended that stories from magazines be separated from the main body held with clips. A man can easily thrust such in his jumper, when suddenly called to quarters, when the more bulky magazine would have to be thrown aside.

"Articles on the current topics of the day, political, religious, scientific, sports, comic and pictures should make up the contribution. It is presumed that the censorship which editors of papers will have over their columns will make it unnecessary to hesitate about cutting out anything that may be thought interesting, but it is suggested that the 'lighter vein' be sought rather than the serious. The magazine articles referred to in the preceding paragraph are most desired. No magazine or periodical is too old from which to tear a story. The stories from fashion journals and periodicals of that nature are especially interesting.

"Full information will be given, should such be desired, and envelopes will be sent by addressing The Comforts Committee of the Navy League, 1418 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

"Turn-to everybody and clip as well as knit for the sailor and marine."

Junior League Activities.

The members of the Junior league are busily engaged in perfecting the organization for the second year of the Junior League School of Domestic Arts and Science. The first year of this worthy and splendid school proved successful, and the members of the league are very enthusiastic over the prospect of a broader field of work during the second year.

Two courses have been added, and the general public has shown great interest in visiting and becoming acquainted with the merits of this new project.

Classes are being formed for the fall term, which begins September 13. The graduates of the past year number many of Atlanta's most popular young women, who are very proud of their diplomas. Many are planning to continue their studies in other courses offered.

Women of today, everywhere, in every walk of life, are realizing the necessity of learning the various domestic arts, and it has proven a splendid start for the Junior league to open the first school of this kind in Atlanta.

BANKHEAD PATHFINDERS ARE OFF FOR MEMPHIS

Party Is Being Royally Entertained by Cities on the Route.

The locating committee of the Bankhead Highway association left Atlanta at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning on its pathfinding trip to Memphis to locate the Bankhead highway route from Atlanta to that city. The committee was accompanied by an escort of Atlantans in automobiles which went with them to the Fulton county line. Governor Hugh Dorsey saw the party off.

The official board is composed of Professor W. M. Riggs, president of Clemson college; Maurice O. Eldridge, government expert of the United States engineering and road department; Professor Hale Houston, of Clemson, and A. A. Camp, of Winder. Professor Riggs was made chairman of the board at a meeting held Monday.

Accompanying the committee were A. M. Flint, of the Georgia State Automobile association; C. J. Stevenson, president of the city council of Gadsden, Ala.; J. A. Rountree, secretary of the Bankhead Highway association; A. G. Batchelder, chairman of the American Automobile association, and Fred Houser, Georgia vice president of the American Automobile association. A delegation from Cedartown, headed by C. C. Bunn, also accompanied the party.

The party will inspect three proposed routes between Atlanta and Birmingham; one by way of Austell and Cedartown, one through Tallapoosa and Bremen, and one through Austell, Villa Rica, Carrollton and Heflin. Each town passed through will be given an opportunity to present their claims to the committee, who will soon definitely decide upon the route from Atlanta to Memphis.

Many elaborate entertainments have been planned for the party in the towns which they will pass through.

Many ladies and visitors were in attendance. The party left about 3 o'clock to complete the inspection of the Cedartown-Piedmont route. They will spend the night in Anniston as the guests of the chamber of commerce. A banquet will be given tonight.

Meeting Is Called Of State Food Council On Wheat Situation

A meeting of the state food council has been called by Chairman J. J. Brown to be held in the office of the department of agriculture Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The call is in conformity with communications from Food Director Hoover for the purpose of discussing the wheat situation, particularly in the south, and in Georgia more especially.

The policy of the state food council, it is understood, will be to advise the farmers of this state to plant two and a half acres of wheat to the plow, which will in nowise disturb the other food crop plans, and yet will bring to this state a yield of 10,000,000 bushels of wheat, which is a sufficient amount to take care of the needs of Georgia.

The associate members of the state council probably will not attend the meeting Wednesday, but telegrams have been sent to all the active members and the replies indicate that the meeting will be a pretty full one.

Rev. M. C. Britt Dead; Was Prominent Minister In Presbyterian Church

He was universally beloved throughout this section by all denominations for his Godliness and deep spirituality. He was a classmate of President Woodrow Wilson.

He will be buried in Sparta Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He was the oldest Presbyterian minister in Georgia in point of active service. He was in his sixty-fifth year.

Following a conference of representative farmers of Ware tomorrow a movement will be started here for the immediate establishment of a market bureau, through which Ware county farmers will get in direct touch with the consumers of the city and arrange for the sale of such produce as they may have to dispose of.

The details of the bureau have not been fully worked out, but as outlined today it is believed the movement will be a success from the start. It is proposed to have a bulletin system inaugurated through the chamber of commerce telling what the different farmers have to sell and furnishing detailed information for both the producer and the consumer.

Gratifying Response Being Made to Appeal For Emory Base Hospital

In response to an appeal made to the patriotism of the people of Atlanta in regard to contributions for the maintenance of the Emory base hospital, which is under the direction of Dr. E. C. Davis, of the Davis-Fischer sanitarium, checks for gratifying amounts are already being received by officials of the unit.

The funds contributed will be used in the purchase of beds, surgical instruments, supplies and necessities for the comfort of wounded American soldiers.

It is especially desired that contributions be made in the quickest possible time, as the unit wishes to become federalized in a short time.

Checks received Tuesday are as follows: Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Fischer, $200; Carter Electric company, $100; John Scheer, $5. In addition to their contribution the Carter Electric company pledged itself to contribute more should it be necessary.

INCREASES FAVORED IN MAINTENANCE FUNDS

If Senate Follows Its Committee, the University Gets What It Asks.

Following the request of the officials of the state university Monday afternoon that the institution be given an increase of $15,000 in maintenance funds, together with an increase of $21,000 in the Smith-Lever fund to be devoted exclusively to the use of the university, the appropriations committee of the senate yesterday included these increases in its appropriation bill which will be presented to the senate.

The committee also recommendedd an appropriation of $20,000 to be added to the extension fund of the state agricultural college, which will bring it back to its customary standing at $40,000.

At the same time the body recommended that the Georgia Normal and Industrial college at Milledgeville be granted a $20,000 increase for home extension work in domestic science.

The $15,000 increase in maintenance funds was made at the request of Chancellor David C. Barrow, who represented the literary and scientific departments, and Dr. Andrew M. Soule, who appeared in behalf of the agricultural college. The customary maintenance fund for the university proper was increased from $60,000 to $65,000, and the agricultural college fund was increased from $60,000 to $70,000.

The university will also receive its regular increase of $21,000 in the Smith-Lever fund, in case the recommendation of the committee passes the senate.

Other changes made by the committee in the original appropriation bill approved by a committee in the house are as follows:

An increase of $6,000 in the appropriation for the state tuberculosis sanitarium.

An increase of $10,000 for the state school for the deaf.

An increase of $3,000 for the negro branch of the university at Savannah.

APPEAL MADE TO WOMEN FOR EMORY BASE UNIT

Urgent Need for Haste in Raising $40,000 Fund Necessary.

It is absolutely imperative that contributions to the Emory base hospital be made immediately if that unit—Georgia's own and only—is to get in the field at any early date. For the equipment of this unit so that it can properly care for our wounded $40,000 is needed. Appeal is made to the public generally to contribute. Checks should be sent to the major in charge, Dr. E. C. Davis, 25-27 East Linden street, Atlanta.

Especial appeal to the women to contribute toward the $40,000 needed to equip the Emory base hospital for service is being made by authorities of the unit.

"The women have been especially active and unselfish in making bandages and in other patriotic work," said one of the officials last night. "We feel that surely they now will go a step farther and give contributions in cash. Certainly they will do so when they realize that without donations the unit cannot be equipped for the care of our wounded and get in the field at any early date."

Contributors are asked to send their checks direct to Dr. E. C. Davis, 25 East Linden street. Among the first contributions received by Dr. Davis was a check for $100 from the Carter Electric company with a note that more will be given if necessary. Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Fischer have contributed $200 and John Scheer, $5.

The fund is to be applied directly to necessary equipment and it is hoped to make this Georgia unit the greatest in the field. Unless the funds are forthcoming the unit will be forced to remain inactive for an indefinite length of time.

GOVERNMENT INSISTS THAT CITY BE CLEAN

Mayor Reads Letter From Secretary Baker That Military Might Intervene.

That all disorderly characters must leave Atlanta was the keynote of Mayor Asa Candler's address before the board of police commissioners last night.

"It is necessary that all women of bad character be driven from the city," said Mayor Candler. "Thousands of young men, the flower of the south, will soon be in training here, and it is our duty to see that the health and morals of these soldiers be protected."

The mayor was highly complimentary of the manner in which Chief Mayo is handling the matter.

Mayor Candler read a letter received by him from Secretary of War Baker in which he said that Atlanta would be required to protect these men. If the police of Atlanta fail to handle the vice question, stated the letter, it will be necessary that the military authorities take the matter in hand.

The commission commended heartily the work of Chief Mayo and his staff for their recent work in clearing the city of disorderly women, and informed him that they would support him to the limit in this work.

Chief Mayo thanked the board for their stand, and stated that he would put on warning every woman in the city known to be of bad character, and that she must leave at once.

MRS. MULLINS ASKS $30,000 DAMAGES OF FILM COMPANY

Mrs. Beulah Yoos Mullins filed a suit in superior court Tuesday asking for $30,000 damages against the Mutual Film corporation for injuries which she alleges were received by her in October, 1915, when the building occupied by the film corporation was burned.

Mrs. Mullins says in her petition that the stairway leading from the floor where she was working as an employee of the defendant was filled with flames when she tried to escape, and that the only windows she could get to were nailed down or obstructed. She says that she finally climbed over a bench and got out one of the windows, taking hold of a pipe on the outside of the building. The pipe was so hot, she says, that she was compelled to let go and drop to the alley.

Mrs. Mullins states that after she recovered from her injuries sufficiently she went back to work for the Mutual Film corporation, and remained in their employ until May, 1917, working only a portion of the time, as she was compelled on account of her injuries to remain away from work frequently. On that day, she says, she was discharged by the company because she could not show up for work every day.

The suit was filed by Attorney L. R. Hopkins.

Mass Meeting Thursday Of Camp Neighborhood To Discuss Sanitation

A mass meting of citizens residing in the district around Camp Gordon will be held on Thursday evening at Prospect church, near Chamblee, for the purpose of discussing the sanitation program for the district, which has been decided upon by the United States government.

Dr. L. L. Lumsden, surgeon with the United States public health service, will be present and will address the meeting, as will also Dr. R. M. Grimm, government expert in charge of the work here. The meeting is being arranged by the government representatives, who have been assisted in working it up by Dr. W. W. Mendenhall, of Chamblee.

The government representatives will outline to the people just what will be expected of them by the war department.

The plan which Dr. Grimm will put into effect involves a rigid supervision of sanitary conditions for a radius of six miles about the cantonment, including the elimination of mosquitoes, the close watching of all communicable diseases, inauguration of proper drainage, etc.

BUSY DAY RECRUITING IN THE LOCAL OFFICES

Scores of Conscripts Seeking to Volunteer Are Turned Down.

Local recruiting offices again spent a busy day yesterday and both the army and the navy report that they enlisted a gratifying number of men. The army was in the lead, with 43 men, and the navy secured eleven.

The navy sent 153 previously enlisted men to a training school in the north Tuesday, to take the place of a class which has just finished a course in preliminary naval training. The men were marched in a body to the Terminal station where they entrained.

Captain G. V. Heidt, of the army station, yesterday stated that scores of men who have been called for examination for the draft army are flocking to the regular army office seeking to enlist.

"It is, of course, impossible for us to do anything for these men," he said. "They should have acted before it is too late, and I want to warn every young man again to do his duty now or else it will probably be the same, with him in the near future."

Tuesday's enlistments are as follows:

Army—Floyd L. Wilson, Pineview; Charles Barrett, Atlanta; Remer, W. Leverett; Atlanta; Clyne Simpson, Gainesville; Henry Hope, Gainesville; George E. Allen, Sargent; Emory F. United States 'Royal Cord' Tires Were Used on World's 24-Hour Record Car

1898 Miles in 24 Hours

Few people believe that any tire could live through much more than an hour or two of such terrific speed with the thermometer over ninety degrees.

"Friction-heat plus atmospheric-heat," contend the doubtful ones, "would be too severe a combination for anything made of rubber and fabric."

But in spite of all this—on August 1st at Sheepshead Speedway, a Chalmers stock chassis driven by "Joe" Dawson was started on its way to lower the world's 24-hour record—and succeeded.

The car was equipped with the tires known as the "coolest running" tires in the world—the United States 'Royal Cord' Tires.

They were selected by the driver, after a comparative test, as the fastest of the cord tires tested.

If the tires had failed to live up to their great reputation, it would have been practically an insurmountable handicap for the car.

But—with the car averaging the terrific pace of over 79 miles an hour for the whole 24 hours,

—with the thermometer averaging over 90 degrees, at times 'way over 100 degrees,

—the United States 'Royal Cord' Tires stood up to their work so thoroughly as to make this amazing record a fact.

If a tire will stand up under such abnormal strain as this,

—what will it do for you under normal conditions?

If you want to "forget tire trouble" and get real tire economy, put United States 'Royal Cords' on your car.

TO SAFEGUARD THE STATE.

The general assembly before the adjournment of the session tonight can do a distinct service to the state by attaching to the appropriation bill a clause making applicable to appropriation legislation the same principle that governs the period of effectiveness of taxation legislation, to wit—a provision that whenever the assembly reaches a legislative impasse, the old schedule of appropriations shall hold until a new one shall be enacted.

If the principle governing the operation of the law under which our taxes are levied were made to apply to appropriations, the new appropriation bill and the state would not suffer, either from the starvation of its institutions, or from the expense of an extra session.

The first effect of such a change in legislative policy would be to save the state from the continuous threat of an extra session; and the next would be that the whole machinery of the state could run along smoothly under the old appropriations schedule until a new one is made.

It would be the simplest sort of a matter to attach such a clause to the appropriations bill making it so apply just as it does in the taxation law.

Governor Dorsey, in his special message to the general assembly yesterday, appealed to the legislature to agree upon an appropriation bill before adjournment tonight and thus save the state the expense of an extra session—which, under existing conditions, will be inevitable unless a new appropriation bill is enacted. His message is a splendid tribute to the business judgment that has characterized the governor thus far in his administration; and it is to be hoped that the legislature will, in keeping with his administration, find the way to avoid an extra session.

It is regrettable that it has failed thus far to agree on an appropriation measure; and it has one day left in which to square its actions with the needs of the state and to vindicate its good name with the people. Up until a few days ago, when it took up this appropriation bill, the legislature had made such progress that The Constitution specifically and upon several occasions commended it for its progressive actions and business-like methods.

What a pity, therefore, if all this should now be spoiled, and the good it has done be largely undone or overshadowed by one foolish act!

It is to be hoped the necessity of a special session will be circumvented by a legislative agreement today; and that a similar hazard will be made impossible for the future.

"FAVORED FEW" AND TUITION.

The kernel of the argument, contained in the communication of J. T. Williams, published in another column of this page, against the principle of charging tuition by our state university and its branches, is his reply to the contention expressed on this page recently by a correspondent that "higher education is a rare privilege," and that "only a comparatively few young men and young women of Georgia can hope to secure a good high school education."

Mr. Williams admits the truth of the latter assertion, but says that it is true because "only a comparatively few communities in Georgia provide free public high schools," and of the former he says it is true "only as the means for providing higher education are restricted."

As a matter of twentieth century principle, education is a "rare privilege," just as it is a rare privilege to be able to breathe pure air, drink hygienic water or use paved roads; but not—more than those other "rare privileges"—so rare that it is to be enjoyed only by the "favored few" who can pay a special price in dollars for it.

We are living in a democratic land, one of the cardinal principles of the government of which is that there is not an American-born boy so poor or of such humble parentage who may not become president of the United States, providing he has the stuff in him to get him there. In keeping with the principles of our democracy he cannot attain the presidency by paying his way into it, but in order to attain it he must prepare himself for it—and the right to prepare for it is denied no boy because he is poor, nor is it especially bestowed upon any other boy simply because he is rich.

The same applies to any other ambition in preparation for the enjoyment of which education plays a part: It is, and it must be, equally as accessible to the poor as to the wealthy. There can be no double standard of privilege in a democracy; and when one is set up in a state, that state automatically ceases to be a democracy.

If there are to be a "favored few" in Georgia, when it comes to higher educational privileges, thank God the son or the daughter of the poorest widow, or the humblest plowboy or dairy-maid, in whose make-up is the proper stuff, stands, by the policy of the state in this respect, as good a chance for a place among the so-called "favored few" as does the son or the daughter of the millionaire. Money is not an open sesame to a university education in Georgia; nor is lack of it a bar.

May it remain so—as it must until we are ready to forsake the principle of public instruction and take a long stride backward!

And Mr. Williams well says that the legislators now in session have it within their power to materially advance the cause of public education by enacting the local school tax bill. Such a policy as it contemplates, if put into operation throughout the state, would provide public school funds, making it possible before long, as the correspondent says, for a high school education, preparatory for the university, would be within the grasp of "every young man and young woman in Georgia who wishes to avail himself of the opportunity to secure it."

This the legislature can do, if it will, before adjournment tonight, and this it should do.

"AWAY WITH WEAKLINGS!"

Two letters—each in itself a sermon on patriotism—which ought to put to shame every cringing would-be service-evader, every "petticoat-slacker," every "conscientious objector," and every obstructionist, in congress or out of it, who is interfering with the military processes of his government, are published in another column of this page.

One, by Mrs. Nell Paris, of Rockmart, is a bristling, heroic appeal "To the Women of Georgia." The other, by Burgess Smith, of Atlanta, is more in the nature of a timely rebuke—emphasized by a pertinent illustration—directed to the "sniveling pacifist and obstructionist who is ready to 'bend the suppliant knee' that 'favor may follow fawning,' and who tries to stop the mad dog with a caress and loving words."

Speaking of the young man who has been called by his country, Mrs. Paris shudders at the thought of his seeking a pretext for exemption—racking his brain for an excuse for evading his duty.

"When the hour comes for him to go," she says, "he must go;" and then "the mother must not fail her boy!"

"There must be no crying out, no rebellion on her part," says she, "but bravely she must point out the way where danger and honor, duty and death are blended in awful harmony! He must go!" she continues. "Shall he go willingly, firm in his belief of the justness of the cause, or as a sniveling coward, who, having disgraced himself forever, cares not what fate holds for him? In the din of the cannon's roar Mother's voice will be heard. Will it give encouragement, or bitterness, in the most terrible hours of his life? In the glare of the battle light Mother's face will be seen. Will it be a picture of hope and love, or one that deserves and receives a soldier's scorn?

"Women of Georgia, you must stand by your sons!"

What a contrast to the "I-didn't-raise-my-boy-to-be-a-soldier" plaint occasionally heard!

"Away with the weaklings!" says Burgess Smith.

"Women of Georgia, stand by your sons!" says Mrs. Paris.

Such sentiment is the sentiment that glorifies men and women. Such a spirit as it expresses is, to use Mr. Smith's phrase, "the spirit that conquers!"

Could those expressions but be read and pondered by every yellow-necked slacker; every coward who would conceal his cowardice behind the camouflage of "conscience;" every wily agitator who is employing his traitorous tongue to stir the ignorant to resistance of the nation's laws; every leather-lunged recalcitrant who obstructs to the limit to which he dares go the course decided upon by the government, and who counsels—veiled and openly—opposition to the workings of the law!

How it should shame them!

But, thank Heaven, such sentiment as is expressed in these two communications is the predominant sentiment of Georgians!

"We never thought of the young as soldiers," writes a patriotic poet in The Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch, and sings of their opportunity:

"The chance is theirs—a glorious chance
There at the front to be
And strike, beneath the Stars and Stripes,
To make the whole world free!"

Dry times ahead for Washington, though different from those congress has been giving it.

Now is the time to train the dimes and dollars for a second Liberty loan line-up.

ATLANTA LAW FIRM WELL REPRESENTED IN OFFICERS' CORPS

The law firm of Brown, Randolph & Parker, of Atlanta, has had a somewhat unusual war experience with regard to the members of its firm and the young men connected therewith. Edward M. Brown and Henry W. Brown, sons of the senior member of the firm, Edward T. Brown, both entered the first training camp, officers' reserve corps, at Fort McPherson, and were successful in obtaining captain's commissions in the infantry. Sidney F. Parham, another member of the firm, also entered the first training camp and was successful in obtaining a commission as second lieutenant in the artillery. Yesterday Charles Montgomery, Jr., also connected with this firm, received notice that his application for admission into the second training camp, officers' reserve corps, had been favorably acted upon and he is about to sever his connection with the firm in order to perform his duties in the training camp.

All of these young men were well under the age limit fixed for the new army and it speaks well for the high standing of the firm that they have all received commissions, except, of course, Mr. Montgomery, who is just entering the second training camp.

The members of this firm are E. T. Brown, who is perhaps one of the best known men in the south and who is now deputy federal reserve agent of the federal reserve bank of Atlanta; Hollins N. Randolph, who is likewise well known, not only in Georgia, but throughout the south, and who is actively engaged in the practice of the law, being at the present time general counsel of the federal reserve bank of Atlanta and division counsel at Atlanta of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Co.; Robert S. Parker, a well-known young lawyer, counsel for numerous corporations and institutions in the city and elsewhere. He is also active in civic affairs and is at present president of the Ansley Park Civic league, and also secretary of the Atlanta Bar association.

S. F. Parham is the son of E. F. Parham, assistant treasurer of the Southern Railway company, at Washington, D. C., and Chas. Montgomery, Jr. is the son of Chas. D. Montgomery, who has long been prominently identified with the mercantile and insurance interests of the city.

The fact that all four junior members of this firm have gone to the war furnishes another striking proof that the leading and prominent young men of the country, particularly in Georgia, are responding eagerly and patriotically to their country's call for service and duty in these trying war times.

Governor in Message to Assembly Urges Cut in Appropriation Bill

Urging the members of the Georgia legislature to revise the top-heavy appropriation bill, Governor Dorsey yesterday sent a message to the Georgia legislature, holding out as an alternative his opposition to the bill and an extra session of the legislature with the added expense such a session would incur. The message created a profound impression, coming as it did in the face of a strong fight to increase the common school fund by $1,300,000 over last year's appropriation.

Governor Dorsey pointed out that under the program contemplated in the appropriations bill as passed by the house the state's expenditures would exceed its income by $1,358,133.60.

The governor's message follows:

Message in Full.

"State of Georgia, Executive Department.
"August 14th, 1917.

"To the General Assembly:

"With a desire to assist you in reaching a proper solution of the problems with which you are now concerned, I submit a brief statement of the state's financial situation.

"The appropriations for the year 1917, made by the legislature at the extraordinary session in 1915 and the regular session in 1916, amount to six million, nine hundred thousand, six hundred fifty-one dollars fifty cents ($6,900,651.50). If you add the deficiency appropriations embodied in the house bill just passed, which amount to one hundred forty-four thousand, five hundred dollars ($144,500.00), you will have a total of seven million, forty-five thousand, one hundred fifty-one dollars fifty cents ($7,045,151.50) to be paid from the revenue of 1917, which the comptroller general now estimates will be six million, five hundred ninety-four thousand, eight hundred eleven dollars ($6,594,811.00), which estimate is based on an increase of twenty-three million dollars ($23,000,000.00) in property on the digests and five million dollars ($5,000,000.00) increase in railroad, telephone and telegraph property.

"Thus you see there will almost certainly be a deficiency of four hundred fifty thousand, three hundred forty dollars fifty cents ($450,340.50), and if the estimated increase in property returned for taxation should not materialize, the difference between the state's income and the appropriations already made for the year 1917 would be in excess of the sum stated.

Bill Passed by House.

"The general appropriations bill as passed by the lower house on Friday carries appropriations aggregating seven million, nine hundred ninety-six thousand, two hundred thirty-three dollars sixty cents ($7,996,233.60) exclusive of the deficiency appropriations amounting to one hundred forty-four thousand, five hundred dollars ($144,500.00) mentioned above.

The lower house passed Saturday several appropriations bills which aggregate one hundred three thousand, four hundred dollars ($103,400.00), and there are pending in that branch several special pension bills increasing this sum.

"These appropriations, added to those made in the general appropriations bill, which has just passed the house, after deducting the deficiency appropriations which, of course, must be paid out of the year's revenue, will leave eight million, one hundred thousand, five hundred thirty-three dollars sixty cents ($8,100,533.60) in appropriations to be paid from the revenues of 1918, which revenues the comptroller general estimates will be six million, seven hundred forty-seven thousand, four hundred dollars ($6,747,400.00).

Deficiency of $1,358,133.60.

"It is thus seen that under the program contemplated by the appropriation bill just passed by the lower house, there will necessarily be a difference between the state's income and contemplated expenditures for the year 1918 amounting to the sum of one million, three hundred fifty-eight thousand, one hundred thirty-three dollars sixty cents ($1,358,133.60). In making this estimate, the comptroller general has anticipated that the state would receive increased revenues under the provisions of the tax act already passed by the lower house. If you should not, therefore, enact a new tax act, the difference between the revenues and appropriations would necessarily be in excess of the figures above stated.

"I am apprehensive that the tax payers of the state will be further burdened with the expense incident to an extraordinary session of your body unless you should speedily compromise your differences and pass an appropriation bill wherein the reasonably anticipated revenues of the state will not be exceeded. And the purpose of this message is to impress upon you the injustice you do the people of the state, the institutions of whose welfare you are the guardians, and the comptroller general, the treasurer and your executive, who will be needlessly embarrassed in the conduct of the financial affairs of the state if you should forget the principle applied by every conservative business man to his own affairs and which should be a fundamental canon of state financing, that one should not expend more money than he has in hand or has any reasonable expectation of being able to get.

"Respectfully submitted,
"HUGH M. DORSEY,
"Governor."

Byrd Makes Answer To State Printing Charges

Editor Constitution: I dislike newspaper controversies, and for that reason have submitted quietly to the injustice which has been done me as state printer by the charges publicly made that I had made an excessive overcharge for printing the Treasurer's Report for 1916. In view of the recent report of a sub-committee, however, I feel that in justice to myself the facts should be given to the public.

When the bids for the state printing contract were opened on the first Tuesday in August, 1916, it developed that the lowest bid was made by a house among whose stockholders were three public officials. The law governing this contract expressly states that "no public official shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in such contract" and that the contract will be awarded "to the lowest and best bidder whose bid has been filed in compliance with the law." Acting upon the advice of my attorneys, Moore & Pomeroy, concurred in by Alex C. King and Henry C. Peeples, whose reputation for sagacity and knowledge of law is unsurpassed anywhere, an injunction was asked and granted, preventing the commission from letting the contract under such conditions. After the injunction was granted, these public officials disposed of their stock and Judge Hill dissolved the injunction on the ground that they had purged themselves by so doing. The case was immediately appealed, and pending its decision, the commission was authorized to continue having its printing done by the former state printer, or by such other parties as they might select. In order to prevent any confusion or embarrassment which might result from this action on my part, I immediately offered my services and plant at the old contract price, notwithstanding the fact that paper had advanced over 100 per cent and everything else which entered into the contract had advanced in the same proportion.

In a number of instances the commission availed themselves of this offer. The treasurer's report was given me to print under this agreement, because the time for its delivery was short, and because it was a complicated job requiring experience and unusual facilities to handle in so short a time.

A bill was made out for this work in accordance with a contract which had been in existence for four years, was audited and approved by the printing committee, and in due time was paid.

When the legislature met the annual attack upon the state printer was resumed and the treasurer's report was seized upon as the most effective weapon. The result was a resolution to investigate the "reasonableness of the charge for printing the treasurer's report for 1916." Three printing experts were appointed by the committee—three men who are recognized, not only as experts in printing, but as men of unquestioned integrity and character. After a careful investigation these gentlemen (all active competitors of mine) reported that the charge was not only reasonable, but was actually less than cost, and their price for duplicating the job would have been $600 more.

If the purpose of the resolution had been simply to investigate the "reasonableness" of the bill, it would seem that the duty of the committee had been discharged, and that a report in accordance with the finding of its experts would have been made to the house; but instead of this, a sub-committee of two was appointed, for the purpose of further "investigation," and reported that the work could have been done for much less under competitive bids, and that the state had paid an excessive price! If the members of this committee were experts on printing they should be able to back up this report by facts and figures, and the public should be satisfied with nothing less. If they cannot do this they have assumed the role of persecutors instead of investigators in refusing to accept the report of three experts, one of whom was of their own selection. In this report they have practically charged that three of the state's most honorable and highly esteemed citizens, the secretary of state, the comptroller general and the state treasurer, were in collusion with me to deliberately rob the state, for they constitute the printing commission and approve all printing bills before they can be paid.

They completely ignore the statement of Hon. Philip Cook, secretary of state and chairman of the printing commission, that in every investigation that has been made it has been shown by experts that I have failed to charge as much as I was entitled to under my contract and reiterate the charge that my bill was excessive.

With the above statement of the case I leave the public to judge as to which of the reports is fair and just—that of the three experts mentioned or that of the sub-committee.

In conclusion, I wish to say that I have no contract on my books on which I have made as little profit as on the state printing. In addition to this I have been forced to carry the account for six to eight months, many times aggregating as much as $15,000 to $20,000, without interest. So far I have seen no mention of this feature by the investigators.

Georgia Mothers and Sons Bidden Meet Supreme Test Bravely and Patriotically

To the Women of Georgia: Never since the beginning of human existence has woman been tested as thoroughly as she will be in the next few years, for history records no time when such a universal sacrifice was demanded of her as the one which she now is making.

The horrors of war with its paraphernalia of man-eating machines have drifted across the Atlantic and chilled with horror the heart of woman who feels not the thrills of adventure and warfare, but watches the vulture that hovers over the battlefields. Whether this test reveals nobility or coarseness, loyalty or disloyalty, unselfishness or selfishness, depends on the point of view the individual woman takes of the situation. There is nothing better for her to do than to turn and face the facts, staggering as they are, and then brace herself to meet unflinchingly whatever comes, looking over the mere question of life or death, to the greater question of honor or cowardice, justice or tyranny. Every woman can do this, hard as it seems.

No woman is weak. When God instilled into her heart the essence of the love He bore His Son He also gave her strength to make the sacrifice He made. There will be eyes that burn with unshed tears and hearts that ache with loneliness and grief, but peace will find the noblest women on earth in American homes, for sacrifice does not embitter, but refines, a true heart.

A great responsibility falls upon the mother of the conscripted boy. His love for his home and his work has been stronger than the lure of adventure and warfare, and when the hour comes for him to give up these things so dear to him there will naturally be some regret, and perhaps a little wavering on his part. When this solemn hour comes, as come it must, mother must not fail her boy. There must be no crying out, no rebellion on her part, but bravely she must point out the way where danger and honor, duty and death, are blended in awful harmony.

He must go. The strongest of earthly powers has called for his services and the wilds of Africa offer no hiding place secure enough to prevent a traitor from meeting a traitor's fate. Shall he go willingly, firm in his belief of the justness of the cause, or as a sniveling coward, who, having disgraced himself forever, cares not what fate holds for him? In the din of the cannons' roar mother's voice will be heard. Will it give encouragement, or bitterness, in the most terrible hours of his life? In the glare of the battle-light mother's face will be seen. Will it be a picture of hope and love, or one that deserves and receives a soldier's scorn?

Women of Georgia, you must stand by your sons!

The Courage That Conquers.

Editor Constitution: Yesterday, I met my friends, Mr. and Mrs. C———, descending to the street from their automobile.

Mr. C——— is a successful business man. By industry and business sagacity he has acquired a competence and has just reached that stage of life where he expects to live in comfort and ease—the reward of his years of toil.

I stepped forward and greeted them with these words: "What will you do when the government commandeers your car?"

"The government," said my friend, "can have it right now, if it needs it; and, moreover, it can have everything I own. What a bauble is a little property when the liberty of my country—the country in which I and my children are to live—is at stake."

This is the spirit that conquers. This is the unquenchable, patriotic fervor that burns in the breast of every true American. It puts to shame the sniveling pacifist and obstructionist who is ready to "bend the suppliant knee," that "favor may follow fawning," and who tries to stop the mad dog with a caress and loving words.

BURGESS SMITH.

Our Country.

Out of the fiery furnace of our pain,
Our nation's life shall flow, a golden tide,
Splendid and drossless, and thrice-purified;
Ah, what undreamed-of heights it shall attain,
When, victory-crowned, our fair and foremost land,
With Freedom's starry banner high unfurled,
Waving above a free, united world,
Shall on the summit of all nations stand!
There is a re-birth of the world, and we Must share the re-birth pangs and suffer on,
If, after suffering, we would wish to see
A new-born world for aye for freedom won;
Dark are the ways of God to human sight—
We can but hope, and trust, and do the Right.

HEALTH TALKS
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A WART NEAR THE NORTH POLE.

From a correspondent:

"In June, 1916, I had a small wart removed from my chest near the little dipper of my neck directly under the chin, by a specialist in Los Angeles who was recommended to me as a reliable person—an electrolysist. She removed the wart with chloride of zinc, which caused a sore spot and spread to the size of a silver dollar before it finally healed. The result is an unsightly red scar. If possible, I would like to have the scar removed."

By what process of psychology do people resort to amateurs for the treatment of warts and other minor lesions? If this correspondent had had a fist-sized tumor near the little dipper or under the Pleiades, she would have consulted a regularly qualified physician and surgeon for treatment. Assuming that the person who recommended the "electrolysis specialist" was not anticipating anything in return for the favor and actually believed that the lady was competent to remove minor lesions, why do people prefer such crude, painful and disastrous methods to the painless, safe and efficient surgical removal of warts by a reputable physician?

There is something akin to the popular love for salves of salvy odor in the habit of resorting to dangerous caustics for the treatment of warts, birth-marks, skin cancers and other local or minor lesions. People just love to monkey with such things, and no amount of warning will stop them from gratifying the inborn yearning.

Wherever the little dipper lies in the correspondent's empyrean, the quick, absolutely safe, painless and effective way to remove a wart is by cutting it out neatly with a sharp scalpel under a local anesthetic. This leaves less noticeable scar than any other means. At any rate, it is the method we would prefer if the wart or cancer or whatever it may be were on our soft, cowardly hide.

Caustics were probably useful enough in the dark ages, prior to the discovery of anesthetics and asepsis. They may even have a place today in the far country where no skilled physician is to be consulted. But in a growing village the size of Los Angeles it is entirely possible that there are several physicians quite competent to treat at least warts in an intelligent manner.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Grandma, Play Something on Your Fine-Tooth Comb.

I am a poor, ignorant bachelor, and I have as my guest for the summer a little girl of five whose hair is infested with lice and nits. Can you tell me how to get rid of them?

ANSWER—Mix crude petroleum (not kerosene) and balsam of Peru, equal parts, and pour upon head enough to overflow upon neck, brow and temples. Then rub it in with a piece of white flannel. Do the head up in a towel and leave for 12 to 24 hours. All lice and nits will then be destroyed. Now a thorough shampoo with soap and water, several rinsings with warm water, dry thoroughly, and gently rub into the scalp a little vaselin. Never cut a girl's or woman's hair.

Boy Who Needs a Spanking.

Will cigarette smoking cause pimples on the face? I am 17 years old and weigh only 105 pounds. How can I increase my weight to about 130 normal? (J. W. J.)

ANSWER—If pimples are the worst result you are to suffer from cigarettes, call yourself lucky. What you need is a sound thrashing. You will remain below weight and below par every other way, physically, mentally and morally, unless you quit the tobacco habit right now.

Heap Big Girl Eats Much Candy.

My 14-year-old daughter is 62 inches tall and weighs 164 pounds. She eats a good deal of candy. Would that cause her to weigh so much? She also has very rough, red, goose-flesh skin on her arms.

ANSWER—Candy certainly makes girls fat, but perhaps the extreme overgrowth of your daughter is attributable to hypophoseal Dystrophia adiposogenitalis, as folks commonly call it. It is a ductless gland disturbance. Often an excessive appetite for and tolerance of sweets is one symptom of such ductless gland trouble. Ask your doctor about it. She should apply equal parts of glycerin and rain water to arms every day.

"One Friend of Education" Likes Constitution's Stand

Editor Constitution: Please accept the thanks of one friend of popular education for your able answer to Rev. R. G. Smith's contention that "The Free Tuition Policy Is Not in Keeping With Democracy."

Mr. Smith's statement that "Higher education is a rare privilege and must remain such," is true only as the means for providing higher education are restricted, which is proven in another one of his statements, that . . . "only a comparatively few young men and young women of Georgia can hope to secure a good high school education." And the reason "only a few" can hope to secure a high school education is because only a comparatively few communities in Georgia provide free public high schools.

Georgia is suffering today on account of the aristocratic idea of education—that it was intended only for a "favored few."

But if the house of representatives will pass the local school tax bill, it will not be long before a high school education will be possible for practically every young man and young woman in Georgia who wishes to avail himself of the opportunity to secure it. This will send to the universities and colleges thousands where only hundreds have been going. Then where will the poor young men and young women, who can barely borrow living expenses, go? Would it be wise, democratic, or even Christian-like, to put the obstacle of a tuition fee in their way?

Agrees With Constitution, Situation Is Staggering

Editor Constitution: I have just read your editorial "Staggering, But Official," published in Saturday's paper.

It is "staggering," indeed. It carries conclusive proof of the need of sweeping reforms in our school system. When the state school superintendent and the editor of one of the leading newspapers of the state say, in effect, that the schools of the state cannot be given sufficient financial support by state appropriation, because there is a limit to the state rate of taxation in the constitution, and, at the same time, say that there should be a compulsory county tax for schools, when there is, also, a constitutional prohibition; it is evident that there should be some reform.

Why should it be possible to amend the constitution so as to allow the legislature to compel the counties to levy a tax for the support of schools, and, at the same time, be impossible to amend the constitution so as to allow the state rate raised to a point sufficient to cover all needs for a school tax?

And to contend that the proper way to make the rural schools as efficient as the city schools is by local taxation!

Or, to contend that it is possible to make rural schools as efficient as city schools by local taxation!

I think I shall write Superintendent Brittain, giving him a few facts and figures.

Married Five Times, and Four of the Marriages Bringing Him Happiness, He Declares, When the Hoodoo Robbed Him of All.

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD COUNTRY GIRL ALLEGED HIS LAST AFFINITY

She Is Care-Free, Quick-Witted and Comely, and Is of a Type Different From the Others Who Entered Into Looney's Life.

DR. ED M'DONALD HERE TO CONSULT CHEMIST

Interest in the James Looney mystery was shifted to Atlanta Tuesday morning, when Dr. Ed McDonald, county physician of Jackson, arrived to consult with the state chemist regarding the analysis of the stomach of the dead woman. He authorized the chemist to make the examination in behalf of county authorities. The exact nature of their conference was kept in secrecy.

In the meantime, the coroner's jury and the grand jury have halted their efforts on the case, pending the report of the state chemist. This report is not expected until the latter part of the week. In the interim, however, investigators are continuing their examinations of residents of the countryside who might reveal clews in the alleged murder of Mrs. Looney No. 5, or the prisoner's reputed relations with pretty Willie Marlowe, his sister-in-law.

BY BRITT CRAIG.
(Staff Correspondent.)

Jefferson, Ga., August 14.—(Special.) James Looney, the mid-centenarian backwoodsman who married and lost five distinct types of women, and is suspected of having slain the fifth that he might take unto himself Mrs. Looney No. 6, a girl of an entirely different age and type from any of the others, sat in his cell today and pondered over the satanic curse he is convinced pursued him through a checkered matrimonial career, each milestone of which was a tombstone on the grave of the woman he swore to love.

The intense seams in his weather-beaten face are more deeply engraved from the nights of sleeplessness since his arrest at the graveside of his last wife, his reputed victim. He has fallen into a morose mood and, though age and apprehension have told gravely on his nerves, he seldom stirs from a seat beside a barred window overlooking the court ground, where yesterday, Willie Marlowe, the pretty blue-eyed girl, rumored to be his affinity, was escorted across his vision to testify at a special session of the coroner's jury, summoned for the specific purpose of examining her.

She wore her prettiest blue frock, which matched her eyes, and a wide-brimmed hat, which Looney had bought her on a recent shopping trip. A rose in her hat matched her cheeks. The trim slippers had been bought by Looney, too. When she walked across the courtyard she glanced toward the jail. But she could not tell, because of the distance, that the prisoner was seeing her. She was badly enough unnerved as it was.

When she had been on the witness stand but a few moments in the coroner's secret session, the jury agreed that she was different from any other woman Looney might have known or loved—in youth and looks, if nothing else.

She possesses the stoic self-sufficiency of the countrybred girl, despite her eternally feminine inclination to break into tears during her recital—inclinations which she struggled with some success to master. She is but sixteen.

The Care-Free Country Girl.

A girl who doffed her sunbonnet and ginghams in a twinkling, and donned silk stockings, slippers, a blue dress and wide-brimmed hat of blue—powdered her face and tidied her hair in less time than it required the officers who were waiting for her to conclude their interlocutory remarks on crops and the weather; a girl who tried desperately to keep in brave spirits, but failing, broke into tears which she tried to control by facetious comment on her plight; a girl who prefers a tranquil rural life to the delights of the city.

This is Willie Marlowe, the girl so vastly different from the variety of other Mrs. Looneys, and reported to be the final and fatal affinity of the quintuple husband. If the rustic beauty was James Looney's last love, as the ugly stories go, she was not only the most comely love of his career—a career alleged in the rumors to have been further marked by two additional slayings—but the cause of his undoing. If such is the case, the aged widower, at the age of 54, and in the shadows of the end of his matrimonial ventures, had discovered the youngest, and no doubt to him the most fascinating of his career.

Looney is convinced that his troubles, including this present tragical epoch in the history of his marriages, are due to an eternal curse which has followed him to blight his attachments of the heart.

At the age of 19 he married a butterfly of the brothel, Fan Sailors, with whom he had become heedlessly infatuated when they met over a faro table in an Athens saloon and gambling hall of the old days. Quickly divorced from her because of his parents, his four succeeding marriages were in turn to a simple, motherly country girl, who bore him five children; to a sophisticated young grass widow; to the widow's daughter, a trusting, unskilled dependent girl of 22; to his final wife, a spinsterly religious devotee of 36 years.

First Shadows of a Hoodoo.

The first shadows of the eternal hoodoo fell upon the prisoner in his guileless teens, when he succumbed to the wiles of Fan Sailors, and later awoke from a virulent spree to find himself the husband of an inmate of the tenderloin.

The second swoop of the marital blight fell upon him after his second wife had borne him five children in the twenty years of their matehood, when she died from lung trouble.

Again the curse visited him a few years later, when his third wife, the grass widow, Mrs. Lou Vickery, died after two years of life with Looney, leaving him her pretty daughter of 22 years, of whom Looney was exceptionally fond. The daughter was a clinging vine variety, and Looney explains that he married her largely through sympathy, and to provide against her helplessness.

The blight had not been shaken off, but re-appeared to rob Looney of his fourth wife in two years after their marriage, at a time when he says they were happiest. Testimony of the family of his present mother-in-law, however, contradict him, for both the mother and sister of Mrs. Looney No. 5 state that he had stolen away from the home of his fourth mate and paid attentions to Mrs. Looney No. 5 considerable while before the death of wife No. 4, who was burned to death by a gasoline explosion.

Looney Talks of His Troubles.

Let the prisoner himself take up the tragic story from this point:

"It looks as though nothing but some unknown curse is responsible for my troubles. Except when I married the Sailors women, when I was bewildered by infatuation for a beauty obsessed by added beguilements of sin, I had no more than reached the happiest moments of married life with each of the four women I subsequently married, than they were carried away by death.

"Nettie Marlowe (wife No. 5) and I had been married two years when she died. During the last months of her life we moved to Chattanooga, and she was happier than at any other time. I was happy, too, and we were comfortably fixed in a good home in which she also took great pride. We had got settled for the rest our lives when the curse came again and took her away."

If it is a curse beating upon the heels of James Looney, it has at last made its trump move, for the final, and what he describes as happiest marriage of his career, was not only blighted at its height, but further plagued by the fatal circumstances which have thrown the husband in prison on suspicion of murdering her and entangled the young sister-in-law with whom he is rumored to have been in love.

Problem of Transportation To Camp Gordon Is Serious

Prominent Atlantans Agree With High Officials of the Street Car Company That Double Track to Cantonment Is Necessary.

The serious problems of transportation which will arise with the completion of the cantonment at Camp Gordon are being discussed from various angles, both from the viewpoint of civic and business interest and from the viewpoint of the soldiers themselves.

The only means of transportation now assured for the cantonment is the single track car line of the Georgia Railway and Power company which will be constructed as soon as possible from Brookhaven, the present terminus, to Camp Gordon. The Southern Railway company is now operating trains in the early morning and in the evening for carrying laborers on the construction work at the camp, but contemplates no passenger schedule at any time during the cantonment.

It is acknowledged that the single track will be entirely inadequate to take care of the travel from the camp to Atlanta, Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and William H. Glenn, vice president of that company, have advocated a double track all the way to the camp from the present terminus of the double track on the Buckhead line.

Finance Committees Veto.

The finance committee of the company, however, has not seen fit to authorize the construction of the double track all the way to the camp. Construction of a double track from the Andrews place on Peachtree road, where the double track now ends, to Buckhead, has been authorized by the street railway authorities, but the work of constructing this line has been held up owing to the fact that the Fulton county authorities have not acted on granting the necessary franchise. Construction of the DeKalb county end of the single track to the cantonment has also been delayed by DeKalb authorities, but a franchise was granted Tuesday and the work will begin at once.

Much interest is being displayed in the matter, and prominent men, who realize the seriousness of the situation, are urging that some adequate facilities be provided without delay.

Mayor Asa G. Candler, in speaking of the matter, declared that it was absolutely necessary that something be done to provide for the addition of the 40,000 or 50,000 population of Camp Gordon.

"Of course, the street railway company knows more about its own affairs than I do," said the mayor, "but it does seem that some arrangement could be reached to meet the situation. I believe that with the enormous travel which would be had over any car line to the cantonment would make the investment in extra tracks a good one. It would not be the same situation as though Camp Gordon were an ordinary city. It will be a city in size, but it is only reasonable that its population will travel to Atlanta at every opportunity."

Ivan Allen, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, stated that although he realized the seriousness of the situation, he believed the transportation companies would soon arrange to provide ample facilities.

Investment Would Pay.

"I cannot conceive of any carrier hesitating at constructing whatever lines are necessary," said Mr. Allen, "of course the cost of additional car lines would be great, and I understand that there is some difficulty in getting the necessary material at this time. But even at that, it seems to me that any outlay necessary would be justified. While the duration of the camp is uncertain, the amount of travel would certainly make the investment a paying one.

"I also feel confident," he continued, "that the Southern railway will arrange a passenger service to the camp. Certainly if it is worth while to connect up towns of the size of Fairburn and Stone Mountain, it would be worth while to connect a bustling city of more than 40,000 people.

"From patriotic and civic motives, it seems to me that service to the government would be given a large amount of consideration in deciding this matter, though, of course, being business concerns the carriers must act prudently as concerns their own investments. But I believe that both the Southern railway and the street railway company will be prepared to meet the situation at the proper time."

WOULD GIVE MILITARY FUND TO HOME GUARDS

The customary annual appropriation made by the general assembly of the state to the maintenance of the national guard units in Georgia will this year be expended on Georgia home guard organizations in the event of favorable action by the legislature on a recommendation to that effect made yesterday by the appropriations committee of the senate. The appropriation will amount to $30,000.

SUPERIOR COURT BUSY GRINDING OUT DIVORCES

Marital Woes of Many Unhappy Wedded Pairs Aired in Public.

There was a busy day in superior court Tuesday on account of the avalanche of divorce suits filed. Thrilling tales of marital woe were recounted by the many applicants for freedom.

Frank Beal filed suit for divorce from Mrs. Bell Ashworth Beal, alleging that about eight years ago she tried to persuade a married man to run away with her and that her scheme was thwarted only by the act of a friend who told the married man to beware. Unsuccessful in her first attempt, it is stated that last April she tried to elope with a drummer.

Mrs. Amelia Reese Williams wants a divorce from Paul Williams. She says he threatened her with a pistol and dragged her from an Atlanta store onto the streets and forcibly put her on a street car, causing her bodily injury.

An ungovernable temper is charged to Thomas B. Reynolds by Mrs. Lula May Reynolds, according to her petition for divorce. She says he also cursed and struck her.

Ernest L. Ray asks divorce from Mrs. Corinne Ray on statutory grounds.

W. A. Cason wants to be released from Mrs. Ellen M. Cason, charging that she attacked him with a poker, drove him from the house and, together with her son by a former marriage, jumped on him when he returned with a detective for his clothes.

Other divorces sought on common grounds were:

Mrs. Annie Floy Bivins against Frank B. Bivins, charging non-support.

Mrs. Annie Ogletree against S. T. Ogletree, charging desertion.

James A. Burton against Tillthie Ellen Burton, cruelty.

J. W. Faster, otherwise known as J. W. Dean, against Mrs. Mary A. Dean, desertion.

SECOND SUIT IS FILED FOR FIRE DYNAMITING

The second suit against the city of Atlanta on account of dynamiting done during the May fire was filed in superior court Tuesday by Mrs. A. S. Hester, through her attorneys, Rosser, Slaton, Phillips & Hopkins.

Mrs. Hester asks $460 for loss of household goods lost when the house she occupied at 75 Hunt street was dynamited under the orders of the chief of the fire department.

WOMAN SEEKS $10,000 FOR PERSONAL INJURIES

Mrs. C. T. McKee Tuesday filed suit in superior court for $10,000 damages against Forrest Adair, Jr., J. T. Holleman and Oscar Weinmeister, alleging that she was injured when her automobile hit a pile of construction material which had been left in the street in front of a building which the defendants were putting up. The accident occurred on July 8, the petition states, on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Are Tied Now.

BY LOSING two games to the Travelers Tuesday, the Crackers are now tied in games won and lost in Little Rock, each team having won five. On the season, the Crackers stand twelve victories to nine defeats. The final meeting of the year between the two teams will take place today.

Consolation.

IT MIGHT have been worse. The Pelicans and the Barons might have won while we were dropping a double-header, but, inasmuch as they dropped a game apiece, the Crackers suffered only a half a game by the calamity that befell us.

Coises!

THEY SAY it's the great American pastime, but look at them foreigners that have slipped the hook into us. Palmero, the Cuban twirler, and Tincup, the Indian heaver, repeated the dose they handed us here at Poncey, and with a vengeance, the hard-hitting Crackers getting a total of but six hits for the day. Some pitcher will suffer today for such humiliation.

Corrected.

THE AVERAGES of the Crackers elsewhere on this page have been corrected from official figures furnished us by Secretary Harold McDermott, of the Southern league, at our request. His figures included the games played June 15, and we have checked the records back from that date to date.

Bigger Per Cent.

IF THE CRACKERS win the Southern league pennant this season they will win it with a greater number of games than their pennant winners of previous years showed. The 1907 pennant winners won but 78 games. The 1909 pennant winners won 86 games, while the 1913 pennant winners won 81 games.

Missed Him.

IN THE LIST of star athletes who received commissions at Fort McPherson we missed one of the real stars of the lot, George Cecil Woodruff, of Columbus, Ga., none other than the famous "Kid" Woodruff, who led the Georgia football teams to so many victories from his position at quarterback. We apologize to the Kid and to his Georgia friends for missing him, but we did not recognize the captain with his full monicker.

Have It Cinched.

THE GIANTS have the National league pennant cinched with a 12-game lead over their nearest opponents. We will have the pleasure of calling the world's series games this fall between the Giants and either the Red or White Sox, and it will probably be the best world's series of several seasons.

Nothing New.

IF THE CRACKERS win the Southern league pennant, but five of their members will experience a novelty in being a member of the pennant winner. Moore, Munch, Perkins, Picinich and Sheehan have never played on a pennant winner, but all the other members of the team have.

Get Cub Star.

ACCORDING to an Associated Press dispatch, Paddy Driscoll, the former Northwestern university football star, now a member of the Cubs, has passed his examination for the new national army. The examining board stated that he was a perfect specimen of manhood.

Scott Called for Draft.

Nashville, Tenn., August 14.—Jack Scott, star pitcher for the Nashville Southern association team, was notified today to report to the exemption board in his home town, Ridgeway, N. C. Scott left tonight and it is probable that the Nashville club will lose him, as he has no dependents and is a fine specimen of manhood. He was secured from the South Atlantic league.

Travelers Win Couple; Pound Hess in Opener; Hurlers' Duel in Second

By Henry Loesch.

Little Rock, Ark., August 14.—(Special.)—A day of rest in Arkansas apparently had ruinous effect upon Crackers' batting eyes for the Frank outfit went through a double-header this afternoon and came out with only six base knocks for the sixteen innings of play and consequently dropped both the games to the lowly Travelers. The first was lost, 6 to 1, while the second went 1 to 0.

In the first game the Travelers rapped Otto Hess hard, while the Crackers gathered only five blows off the Cuban, Senor Emilio Palmero. The one run they got off the senior was not earned, a pair of errors presenting it to them. In the second game the Crackers were absolutely punchless, Rube Bressler getting the lone hit that was made off the Indian, Ben Tincup. It wasn't the Crackers day to hit.

Crackers' Lone Tally.

Frank Thrasher scored the Crackers' lone run of the afternoon in the fourth inning of the first game, but that run merely reduced the Travelers' lead to three runs, the Wares outfit having pushed four over in the second inning. Frank opened that inning with a solid knock to center field for one base. Munch bunted to Walsh, who made a bad throw to first, allowing Munch to go safe. The ball escaped Covington and Thrasher kept right on for third base. Covington recovered the ball and threw to Palmero, covering third, the ball arriving ahead of the runner, but Palmero dropping it. Thrasher scored after Reilly had lifted a long fly to Kirkham.

Thrasher's hit in the fourth was the last Cracker blow until two men were out in the ninth when Val Picinich went to bat for Hess and drove a double over third base. Val was left when Mayer grounded out.

The Crackers had but one other chance in the first game. That one came in the second inning when Munch's single and Reilly's double put two men on with two out. The Traveler strategists ordered a base on balls for Perkins and Hess fell for the trick by lifting a puny fly to Covington for the third out.

How Travelers Won.

The Travelers earned only two of their quartet in the second inning. Walsh started with a hit through the box. Stutz hit to right center for one base. Kirkham advanced both runners with a sacrifice. The Crackers followed the Travelers' idea by walking Chapman to bring up the pitcher. Palmero crossed 'em up by smashing a single through short.

O'Mara was playing close in and the ball was literally hammered through him. Walsh scored but O'Mara recovered the ball and caught Stutz at the plate when he attempted to score. Wares was walked. Baker scored Chapman with a single to left. Covington hit a warm grounder over second. O'Mara made a beautiful stop, but spoiled it with a bad throw to Reilly, allowing Palmero and Wares to score. Baker was the third out when Perkins nailed him attempting to steal third.

A base on balls to Covington, Manning's single, a plunk in the ribs for Walsh and Stutz's wicked drive by third gave the Travelers two in the fifth.

Jake Gums It.

The Crackers had just one cnance in the second game, and Jake Munch gummed it up. In the fifth inning, with one out, Jake missed the third strike, but Kennedy also missed it. The Traveler catcher improved Jake's opportunity by hitting him in the head with the ball, and as he was running up the line the ball bounded into right field and Jake beat it for second, running with his head down. He passed the bag and started for third. The coacher sent him back, but too late; Wares had recovered the ball and a relay throw by Covington got the ball to Stutz on second before Jake could get back.

Jake was the only Cracker to reach second in the seven innings, and he and Bressler were the only two to get on base. Bressler's hit came in the third with two out.

The Travelers won the game in the fourth, when Walsh hit a lucky double to right, the ball falling between Reilly and Thrasher. Picinich caught Dee off second, but the runner beat O'Mara's throw to third. Stutz whaled a double over Moran's head to bring in the score.

Brennan probably will oppose Robinson in the final game of the series.

Chattanooga, August 14.—Chattanooga came from behind and defeated New Orleans here today, 3 to 1. Although Bailey was wild, the home team could get out six hits, four of which were secured by Bates, with two doubles and two singles in four times at bat. With three Pelicans on bases and one out in the ninth, Marshall relieved Perryman and retired the side without further scoring.

Memphis, August 14.—Memphis bunch three singles and a triple in the fifth inning today and drove Milligan from the box and beat Birmingham, 4 to 1. Black, who relieved Milligan, was effective but McColl, pitching for Memphis, was steady at all stages and never was in trouble. Beall, Memphis' first baseman, was hit in the head by a pitched ball and was forced to retire from the game. He was not seriously hurt, but probably will be out of the game for several days.

Vols 6, Gulls 3.

Nashville, August 14.—Fulton was no puzzle to Nashville batsmen today, and the locals made it two straight over Mobile. The score was 6 to 3. After loose play had enabled the Gulls to establish a two-run lead in the first inning, Scott settled down and held the visitors well in hand. The batting of Marshall with a single, a double and a triple in four times up and a great catch by Bennett featured an otherwise listless game.

FIVE ARE LEFT IN TENNIS PLAY

The results of matches played yesterday afternoon in the men's singles of the Georgia State Lawn Tennis tournament left five players still in the running. Three of these, Ed Carter, Eston Mansfield and Stewart Harris, are already in the semi-finals; the fourth semi-finalist will be the winner of the B. M. Grant-Rawson Stewart match.

Mansfield won his way to the semi-final by defeating Percy Cox in one of the closest matches of the tournament. Mansfield lost the first set 4-6. After he had won the second and it looked as though he had the match packed away in the third set, Cox came from behind and won five straight games, making the score 6-5. Mansfield rallied and won the next three games, giving him the match.

Stewart Harris, southern junior champion, won two matches during the afternoon, easily defeating both F. M. Roebuck and C. E. Giles. Harris will meet Mansfield in the semi-final round this afternoon and should give the older man an exciting match. This and the Grant-Stewart match will be the only ones played this afternoon.

The results of matches played yesterday are as follows:

E. S. Mansfield defeated Percy Cox 4-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Stewart Harris defeated F. M. Roebuck 6-2, 6-2.

B. M. Grant defeated Ben Rhett 6-0, 6-3.

Rawson Stewart defeated T. M. Wilson 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Stewart Harris defeated C. E. Giles 6-0, 6-2.

Fletcher won the first game with a two-base hit in the eighth inning, driving in the tying and winning runs.

EDDIE PLANK HAS RETIRED FROM GAME

Veteran Southpaw Quits Baseball—Health Given as Cause.

Detroit, August 14.—Eddie Plank, the veteran left-hander, has retired permanently from baseball. Fielder Jones, of the St. Louis Americans, made this known today when he announced that Plank had left the team last Saturday and gone to his home at Gettysburg, Pa. Plank informed him, Jones said, that his reason for retiring was that the strain of baseball was telling on him, causing trouble with his stomach.

Plank's last game was pitched in Washington a week ago Monday, when Walter Johnson defeated him, 1 to 0, in eleven innings.

EIGHTEEN ROUNDS OF BOXING FRIDAY AT THE COLUMBIA

Eighteen rounds of boxing, consisting of one ten-round bout and two four-round scraps, will fill out the card at the Columbia theater Friday night, according to Matchmaker Mike Saul.

The main event of the evening will be a ten-round set-to between Terry Nelson, the rugged Greek, and Pete Shaughnessy, the Oklahoma "Bear Cat." These boys are both veterans of the game and should put up a stunning battle. They are training hard for the scrap.

In one of the four-round bouts Charley South and Kid Carter will clash for four rounds. These boys should also put up a good battle.

Young Attell and Kid Sober will furnish the four-round opener. Mike Saul will referee all the contests, which will be put on immediately after the theatrical performance.

The first ten rows on the main floor have been reserved by the management, so that boxing fans can get their tickets in advance.

Closed steady at an advance of 79 to 91 points.

New York, August 14.—There was a very sharp advance in the cotton market today, with December contracts selling up to 25.22, or 78 points above last night's closing. Reports that the pope had asked all belligerents for their peace terms, appeared to reach the market at a time when the technical position rendered it very sensitive to buying orders, and prices went up very rapidly on the more hopeful view of peace prospects. December closed at 25.20, with the general list closing firm at a net advance of 50 to 77 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 17 points to a decline of 2 points, with near months relatively firm on covering. The buying was promoted by the failure of the weather map to show any break in the southwestern drouth and a private crop report from the southwest indicating that the average condition had deteriorated 2.3 per cent between July 25 and August 10.

Bearish sentiment was still much in evidence, and prices sagged off right after the call with October selling down to 24.71, December to 24.46 and January to 24.43, or back to practically last night's closing figures. But offerings were not as active or aggressive as they had been toward the end of last week, and there was evidently a good deal of covering after the recent break of approximately 2 cents per pound. This became more active when the reports of the peace proposals reached the ring, and was also stimulated by the detailed weather reports showing no precipitation in Texas. October sold up to 25.41 and January to 25.20, with the general list showing net advances of about 66 to 78 points late in the afternoon. The close was only a few points off from the best under realizing.

Exports today were 3,471 bales, making 104,618 so far this season. Port receipts 12,986. United States port stocks 523,126.

Spot cotton quiet; middling 26.70.

HEAVY BUYING FEATURED NEW ORLEANS MARKET

New Orleans, August 14.—Heavy buying made its appearance in cotton here today and the market had a firm undertone almost throughout the session. Buying was based on the failure of expected rains to materialize in Texas, and the pope's peace proposals. It was floor comment that the most important demand came from recent short sellers. At the highest levels trading months were 83 to 92 points up. The close was at a net advance of 79 to 91 poitns.

In the early trading prices rose about 20 points as the result of continued drouth in Texas. Private accounts from that state were highly unfavorable, predicting a shorp crop unless there is rains this month. A little later the peace proposals became a factor, and by noon active months were 75 to 86 points up. In the early afternoon the market was off about 25 points from the top under realizing by early buyers, but just on the close there was a sudden spurt on heavy buying and new high levels for the session were made.

The continued strength of the spot market in the western belt and expectations of bullish figures on American consumption from the census bureau tomorrow morning were features that contributed to the firmness.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, August 14.—(Special.)—Absence of rain in Texas where needed, coupled with private damage reports from that state and rumors of peace efforts, caused the covering of contracts and a sharp advance in the local market. Weather conditions, with the exception of Texas, are considered ideal.

Exports today were 3,471 bales.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, August 14.—(Special.)—The reaction which the local traders were looking forward to occurred this morning and then a report became current that the pope had instituted negotiations for peace, addressing a communication to all the belligerent powers. Sharp buying from Wall street houses and the west advanced prices some 90 points from the low of yesterday.

A rumor was current that the Japanese houses, who are believed to be long throughout the count, issued a bullish crop report, showing a falling off in the condition in Georgia and Texas.

The weather throughout the cotton belt, with the known exception of where rain is needed in Texas, is excellent for the growth and development of the plant. All reports notice the absence of extensive boll weevil damage.

FLURRY IN GRAINS QUICKLY STEADIED

The Fading Away of Available Supplies More Than an Offset for Peace Talk, and Corn and Wheat Held Their Own.

Chicago, August 14.—Notwithstanding that peace proposals led to much selling today in the corn market, the rapid fading away of immediately available supplies proved more than an offset. As a result prices closed nervous, ⅞ to 1⅛c net higher at $1.15¾ for December and $1.13¼ to $1.13⅜ for May.

Wheat finished steady at unchanged figures, $2.04 for September. Oats gained ¼ to ½@⅝c net, and provisions varied from the same as yesterday's close to 55c down.

Advances in the corn market had attained considerable headways before it became generally known that Pope Benedict had communicated to all belligerents specific outlines of a concrete peace plan. Word of the move led immediately to something of a setback in prices and there was a similar result later after the details were more fully disclosed. In neither case, however, did the downturn in values carry the market as low as yesterday's level. On the contrary, the ascent of prices was not long interrupted at any time, and the attention of traders appeared to be centered chiefly on the readiness with which all offerings were absorbed, whether for immediate or future delivery. The fact was noted that with feeding demand on the increase total stocks in sight had shrunk 549,000 bushels within a week and now aggregated but little in excess of a third of the total a year ago.

Wheat trading was at a complete standstill the greater part of the session, as far as futures were concerned. Appearances indicated that in accord with government policy all outstanding deals would son be settled. Price changes were too slight to have any special significance.

Talk of export business at the seaboard tended to lift the oats market. Corn strength was also a bullish influence.

Provisions broke sharply, despite an advance in hog quotations. Free offerings of lard from important sources were responsible.

WAR ISSUES SLUMP AT VATICAN NEWS

Steels Lead the Downward Movement, Bethlehem Reacting From Its Recent Advances and Closing at a Net Loss of 4 1-2 Points.

New York, August 14.—The stock market gave promise at the outset of today's more active trading of continuing its irregular rise of the previous session, but reversed its course almost immediately on extensive selling prompted by the peace proposals from Rome.

Additional reason for concern was furnished by the gyrations of various specialties under pool control. General Motors was a typical instance, opening at an advance of 5½ points and driving the shorts in that and other speculative issues to hastry retreat.

War shares were steadily liquidated after peace reports gained currency. Bethlehem Steel reacted from its advance of almost 2 points and closed at a net loss of 4¼ points. United States Steel fell back sharply from its top quotation of 125¾ to 123¼, finishing a slight fraction above its minimum.

Shippings, tobaccos, Industrial Alcohol and some of the semi-war stocks were influenced in lesser degree by the heavy selling of the final hour and sugars yielded 1 to 2 points with leathers and secondary equipments. In general final prices were only slightly over lowest quotations.

Most of the day's call loans were again placed at 3½ per cent, with slight relaxation later. Time rates were quotably unchanged, but actually firmer on the preparations now making for another payment to the Liberty Loan.

Slight betterment in Italian remittances was the only feature of the nominal exchange market, rubles holding steady.

Liberty bonds were again in demand, the activity in that issue at 99.96 to par, at which they closed, making up a considerable part of the enlarged dealings in that division. Total sales of bonds, par value, aggregated $4,770,000.

United States bonds, old issues, were unchanged on call.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, August 14.—Liquidation on the break in lard caused a decline of 11 to 19 points in cotton seed oil during the early trading, but subsequently the market firmed up on peace talk, demand from shorts and outside buying on the strength in cotton and fats and greases. Sugar.

New York, August 14.—Advices from Washington to the effect that sugar also would be under the control of the food commission further unsettled sentiment in the sugar market today. Buyers were evidently inclined to hold off, and the undertone was easier, with operators offering Cubas at 6½c without attracting attention. The market closed entirely nominal in the absence of fresh business with sugar available at 6½c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 7.52 for centrifugal and 6.64 for molasses.

The market for refined sugar was unchanged with fine granulated listed at from 8.40 to 9.15. Business was again quiet owing to the inability of refiners to handle the business as they are already sold up for some time to come. Two of the refiners were out of the market entirely.

The Washington news led to excited selling at the opening of the futures market and an early decline of 13 to 21 points with old crop positions relatively weak. Wall street and Cuban interests were the principal sellers, but at the decline, which was believed to have placed the market in a better technical position, trade interests and shorts covered and prices advanced rapidly, regaining nearly all the early loss and closing unchanged to 9 points net lower. Sales were 33,950 tons. September sold from 5.85 to 6.10, closing 6.09; December 5.06 to 5.35, closing 5.33; March 4.63 to 4.80, closed 4.76; May closed 4.80.

Coffee.

New York, August 14.—An early decline in the market for coffee futures was followed by rallies on firmer late cables from Brazil and scattered buying which seemed to be encouraged by the revival of peace rumors. The market opened at a decline of 5 to 6 points with December selling off to 7.75 and March to 8.07, or about 8 to 9 points net lower during the early trading. The larger receipts at Brazilian ports seeemed to be responsible for liquidation and scattering pressure, but small offerings were absorbed at the decline with December selling up to 7.88 and May to 8 20 in the later trading. Closing prices were within 2 or 3 points of the best, net 2 points lower to 3 points higher. Sales, including exchanges, 24,500. New Haven, August 14.—Wesley Negus, motorman of the Shore Line trolley car that crashed at full speed into another at North Branford yesterday, bringing death to nineteen persons and injuries to scores of others, admitted to a coroner's jury today, according to Deputy Coroner Kenneth, that he had fastened down a spring on the controller of the car, which, if free, would have automatically stopped the car as soon as he had lifted his hand from the controller.
He also declared, the deputy coroner said, that he was in a doze for two hours before the accident. Frank Harrison, a passenger, testified, however, that Negus was wide-awake just before the smash.

SHERIFF OF BALDWIN KILLS MAN HE SOUGHT

Dead Man, Alva Turner, of Washington, Believed to Have Shot Baldwin Merchant.

Milledgeville, Ga., August 14.—(Special.)—S. L. Perry, sheriff of Baldwin county, today shot and killed Alva Turner, a young white man of Washington county, at the latter's home.
Sheriff Perry was looking for Turner, who it is believed shot and fatally wounded Joseph Sims, a merchant, at his store four miles east of Milledgeville, on Sunday. Sims had described his assailant and this description, it is alleged, closely fitted Turner. In addition to this bloodhounds had traced Sims' assailant to a point in the road leading to Turner's home, but the trail was there lost.
Sheriff Perry stated upon his return to Milledgeville tonight that when he approached Turner's house the latter drew a gun and that he was forced to kill Turner in self defense.
Turner was a single man, 28 years of age.
Dr. T. M. Hall, of Milledgeville, is treating Sims, who is believed to have been shot by Turner for purpose of robbery, as Sims is an old bachelor who lives alone at his store and is supposed to have kept considerable ready cash at his place of business at all times. Dr. Hall thinks Sims will die.

EMPTY FREIGHT CARS RUSHED TO THE SOUTH

Washington, August 14.—To facilitate the prompt movement of grain and food products, as well as lumber and munitions the car service commission of the railroads' war board has ordered the immediate distribution of 20,790 additional empty cars among the lines operating in the south, the middle west and the southwest. This will make a total of 106,033 empty cars that have been ordered moved from one railroad to another, regardless of ownership, during the past two months in order to mobilize in different sections of the country sufficient number of cars to handle the abnormal government and commercial traffic that war conditions have produced.
To protect the vegetable and southern watermelon crops more than 5,000 cars have been sent to the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, the Central of Georgia, the Seaboard Air Line, the Atlantic Coast Line and other roads operating in the southeast. Meanwhile hundreds of cars are being rushed daily to the lumber states of the south to take care of the tremendous movement of lumber to the army cantonments and shipbuilding yards.
In addition to the demand for lumber the war has practically doubled the orders for phosphate rock during the past three months. This product, which is essential to the operation of sulphuric acid plants and the manufacture of munitions, is also used as a foundation for fertilizer. In the past the coastwise vessels carried a large volume of it, but with the reduction in the number of vessels used for freight surposes along the coast, practically all of this traffic has been diverted to the Atlantic coast railroads and as a result it has been necessary to send thousands of cars in that district.

WEST GEORGIA CROPS ARE MUCH IMPROVED

Columbus, Ga., August 14.—(Special.) Crop prospects in west Georgia have improved during the past week. A gentle rain fell yesterday in this immediate section, the first in week. Too much rain had been falling, and the week of sunshine resulted in a perceptible improvement in crop conditions. Cotton is beginning to open on the highlands. So far the ravages of the boll weevil in this section have not been as severe as were anticipated.
The arrival of new cotton in this, one of the great inland cotton centers of the south, is awaited eagerly. The unsold stock has been reduced to a few thousand bales. Despite the heavy receipts, local cotton mills now consume as much cotton as is brought here and propose to give the exporters a run for their money this fall. Several exporting firms are represented here and in the past have bought and shipped much cotton from Columbus.

THREE ARMY FORCES SERVE UNCLE SAM

Distinction Between Regular, National Army and National Guard Explained.

Distinguishing the differences of the various armies in the government service seems difficult to the general officers.

The United States army, or the regular army, is composed of those men who make a profession of the army, and who constitute the government defense in peace as well as war.

The national army is the drafted army. Those men who are called into the military service of the government for the duration of the war only constitute this organization.

The national guard army is formed from those state units, which formerly were for home defense only. They are now under the jurisdiction of the national government, and subject to the same rules as the regular and national armies.

The three armies are entirely distinct, and bear no relation to each other save that their purpose is to defend the United States.

The officers' reserve corps is that set of officers who will command the drafted, or the national army. The members of this corps can, however, be transferred to the other armies, and if placed in the regular army will not be automatically released from service at the end of the war.

High officers of the national army will be taken from the regular United States army, and this will naturally cause vacancies in the commissioned ranks. For this reason temporary lieutenants will be created in the regular army, and the present lieutenants will be promoted to the rank of captain and the captains to colonel, etc. After the war the high officers of the national army will resume their former positions with the regular army, and the temporary lieutenants will be discontinued.

Provisional lieutenants are appointed from either of the three armies for the rank of second lieutenant in the regular army. If, at the end of two years, their services have proven satisfactory, they will be given commissions in the regular army; if not, they can be discharged.

Let's All Stand Together

"United we stand, divided we fall"

Never was a truer saying.

It's applicable in home life. It applies in civic life; it applies in times of peace as well as times of war. It is true in commercial life---in the sales and manufacturing world.

Let the people of a community stand squarely behind their home producers; let them unite to promote the interests of those who are helping in large ways to better their communities---to give employment to more people---and then let the people notice how that community "stands" ---how it grows and prospers.

All things being equal, the products of home manufacturers should be those first sought by home people. The people are thus helping themselves as well as helping the producers.

Here are home products just as good as any made anywhere in the world---just as cheap in price---and they are right here at your elbow. Good, fresh goods, and no excessive freight rates to charge back to the consumer.

Think of this when you want such goods as---

Superior Trucks — Made by the Superior Motor Truck Co.

Red Seal Shoes — Manufactured by J. K. Orr Shoe Co.

Cornfield Hams, Bacon, Wieners — Packed by White Provision Co.

AMUSEMENTS

"Royal Hawaiians."

(At B. F. Keith's Lyric.)

An act that is splendidly living up to its reputation of the most beautiful of Hawaiian offerings is the "Paradise Beach" offering that Clark's "Royal Hawaiians" present as headliner of the program closing today at B. F. Keith's Lyric. One of the many features of this gorgeously staged affair is the native dancing of Miss Amoy Clark. Four other splendid acts are presented.

As headliner the last half of the week Manager George H. Hickman will offer Isabelle D'Armand, Broadway musical comedy star, assisted by Bobby O'Neil in "The Demi Tasse Revue." There will be four other Keith features in addition to news pictures and travelogues.

Loew's Grand.

The saddest man in the world is guaranteed a good laugh at Loew's Grand theater today, when "Senator" Francis Murphy expounds upon the problems of the day in his famous burlesque political monologue. The "senator" is the top of the vaudeville bill which closes its engagement there today, and he has had 'em laughing all week. Another funny chap on the bill is Ben Mann, a regular "nut," while his partner, Hazel Mann, is one of the prettiest and cleverest girls in vaudeville. They have a pleasing mixture of songs and comedy chatter. Fraser, Bunce and Harding are three young chaps from Broadway with Broadway's latest songs and witticisms. The bill is completed by LaBelle Carmen Trio, who present an unusual and sensational boomerang-throwing act and tight-rope-walking. The big feature photo-drama, "Souls Adrift," a desert island and shipwreck story, stars the charming Ethel Clayton and her new leading man, Milton Sills. Loew's Universal Weekly shows the first moving pictures here of the men in training at the officers' training camp at Fort McPherson.

"The Slacker."

(At the Criterion.)

A lesson in patriotism that every man and woman should see, is the way Emily Stevens's new Metro picture, "The Slacker," now running at the Criterion theater, has appealed to government officers stationed in Atlanta. It shows most graphically the part that a woman must play as well as a man in bringing American armies into the field and the war to a successful conclusion; and for this reason, women are being urged to see it even more than men. Miss Stevens gives a very fine bit of impressive acting in the part of the wife of the slacker; and the means that she uses in getting her truant husband to enlist are most interesting. "The Slacker" will be at the Criterion the rest of the week.

Douglas Fairbanks.

(At the Rialto.)

Two of the foremost comedians in pictures are being shown today and all this week at the Rialto theater, and big audiences have been the result of the double attraction. Douglas Fairbanks has a role that suits him excellently. It is all out-of-doors life in "Down to Earth," and Doug is given an opportunity to test his belief that plenty of exercise will cure almost any kind of a disease. The story of how he bought the patients and good will of a sanitarium and then cured them, almost against their wish, is excruciatingly funny. "Fatty" Arbuckle is seen in "The Rough House."

Gail Kane.

(At the Vaudette.)

After two days' successful run with "Durand of the Bad Lands" as the attraction the Vaudette today offers Miss Gail Kane in a story of intrigue and war plots, laid in Paris. "Souls in Pawn" tells of the efforts of a young widow to find the murderer of her husband who has been killed as the result of a war plot. In the course of her investigation she becomes entangled with the secret service agents of a country hostile to France and when the war breaks out, she is imprisoned and sentenced to death as a spy. There are unlimited possibilities for acting and thrill after thrill in the plot before the heroine wins the vengeance she desires.

"The Amazons."

(At the Strand.)

When three young girls are raised as boys, and have all their lives enjoyed the sports and had the privilege of the other sex there is all kinds of opportunity for comedy when the three suddenly fall in love and want to be real young ladies for once in their lives and forget their tomboy ways. This is the situation in which the three young Amazons, daughters of the Marchioness of Castlejordan find themselves in the play at the Strand this week. Marguerite Clark in the role of Tommy Castlejordan has added another big success to her already long list of hits. "The Amazons" will be at the Strand all the rest of the week.

Dustin Farnum.

(At the Odeon.)

Dustin Farnum, one of America's most polished actors, both on the stage and before the camera, will show the other side of the "bad man" in the Fox picture, "Durand of the Bad Lands," at the Odeon today. He will prove by his interpretation of the character of Dick Durand that there is a "little good even in the worst of us." The story is an entrancing one, that holds the interest to the finish, and there is not a dull moment. Mr. Farnum is at his best in this part and is surrounded by a capable company.

TO SHOW ATLANTA WOMEN HOW TO CAN GARDEN PRODUCTS

Atlanta women interested in the preservation of vegetables by salting have been invited to attend a conference to be held this morning in the assembly room of the Fulton county high school at Trinity avenue and Whitehall street to be under the direction of demonstration agents for the north Georgia district.

Dr. L. O. Pound, of the United States bureau of chemistry at Washington, will discuss the ways by which county agents can aid the food administration by preserving surplus vegetables.

Miss Erna Proctor, of the state college of agriculture, will preside at the meeting, in the absence of Miss Lois P. Dowdle, of Rome, state demonstrator, who called the meeting.

"UNCLE IKE" PILGRIM IS CRITICALLY ILL

Isaac Pilgrim, 86 years old, veteran printer of Atlanta, who is affectionately known as "Uncle Ike," is critically ill at his home, 145 Oak street.

He was taken sick last Thursday and his condition has steadily grown worse since that time. Little hope is now felt for his recovery.

"Uncle Ike" is probably the oldest printer in Georgia, and has a state-wide reputation for his genial disposition and kindness. He had been with The Constitution for almost 50 years, being an employee at the time of the first issue of the paper.

He retired from work with the paper several years ago, at which time he was in charge of the advertising department. Since that time he has been in bad health. He has hundreds of friends in Atlanta who will be grieved to hear of his illness.

Joe C. Forbes, G. Lester Forbes, Miss Nell Forbes, Mrs. W. T. Forbes and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Forbes and their two children will leave today for New York.

NEGRO CHURCH CHOIRS SING AT AUDITORIUM

The grand musical concert presented at the Auditorium last night by a chorus of 300 selected members of the choirs of the negro churches of the city, played to a large crowd, a considerable part of which was composed of white people.

The concert was produced in order to raise funds for the completion of the negro Y. M. C. A. building, on Butler street, which is already in course of erection. It was greeted with much enthusiasm by both the white and black members of the audience.

The numbers making up the program were selected to give a wide range to the voices, and each one was rendered with a remarkable precision and accuracy. They consisted of difficult vocal selections, intermingled with the old-time dialect songs of the southern darky. All were greeted with applause.

A feature of the program was the rendition of several selections by Charles Sheldon, Jr., the city organist.
